

Japs Continue To Rain Bombs On Canton in Aerial Attacks

150 Believed Dead and 500 Wounded During Bombardment

RESCUERS ARE BUSY

Casualties in Area are Expected to Exceed 1,500

Canton, China.—(7)—Japanese aerial bombs killed probably 150 persons and injured 500 others in this South China city today, the third successive day in which Japanese warplanes have attacked.

Eighty-three deaths were counted between the east bund and Honam island alone as rescue squads pulled mangled bodies of men, women and children from wrecked houses.

The dead and wounded for the last three days in the Canton area were expected to total more than 1,500. There were 326 casualties by official count yesterday, including 240 killed when a bomb hit a concentration camp at Tsencheng in South Kwangtung province.

Gruesome scenes surrounded those of last month's bombings in which hundreds were killed.

37 Planes in Raid

Thirty-seven Japanese air raiders appeared shortly after daybreak, directing their attacks toward the Pearl river bridge and the old power plant.

Near the bridge, on the east bund, one bomb struck the center of a crowded vegetable market, and 34 shattered corpses were counted there. The only living thing appeared to be a pet monkey, chained to a tree.

Crossing the bridge to Honam, one saw 49 bodies laid out on the sidewalk.

Trucks carried wounded to hospitals, where some of the injured died before medical aid could be had.

Two 500-pound bombs landed on Honam island near the stone line, creating havoc among the residents of flimsy swellings and boats.

Surgeons Busy

In Canton hospital, where Dr. Sun Yat-Sen studied medicine in his youth, surgeons were covered to the elbows with blood. Some victims were lifted to the operating table, only to be pronounced dead before a surgeon could pick up his scalpel.

Similar scenes were plentiful in the city's five other hospitals. Stretchers were carried up several flights of stairs at one hospital, where failing power stalled elevators.

The Associated Press correspondent had to tie a handkerchief across his face to keep out sickening smells in bombed areas. From the ruins of one house there was a cry, then sudden silence, indicating one more dead.

Seadlund Is Executed For Ross Kidnaping

Chicago.—(7)—John Henry Seadlund paid with his life today for the crime of kidnaping.

The 27-year-old lumberjack, confessed abductor of Charles S. Ross, confessed killer of the man who helped him commit the crime, was electrocuted at 12:08 a. m. (central standard time) in the Cook county jail.

Shaved and masked, Seadlund walked tensely into the execution chamber almost unaided. "You don't have to hold my arms," he told the guards on each side of him. "I can get there alone." After seating himself he made a "viable effort to relax and held his arms out for the clamps.

He was the second man to be executed by the federal government under the Lindbergh kidnap law. The first was Arthur Goetz, 27, hanged at McAlester, Okla., June 19, 1936, for kidnaping two peace officers at Paris, Texas, while attempting to avoid arrest.

Parlor Games

are very popular now . . . especially among the grown-ups. It isn't an unusual sight to see staid, dignified business men or stiff, proper dowagers indulging in such unsophisticated pastime as "Questions and Answers," "School," "400" or even "Itchy Koo."

Besides being fun, parlor games help keep one's mind active and healthy. Let's hope we oldsters never get too old to enjoy them.

It's an enjoyable pastime to read the Want Ads, and a profitable business to use them. Results come quickly.

Waukesha County Sheriff Convicted on 4 Counts of Malfeasance in Office

RUNS FOR GOVERNOR

Milwaukee.—(7)—Julius Heil (above) today announced he was a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Wisconsin.

The prominent industrialist, president of the Heil company here, said he would conduct a "clean and intensive" campaign reaching into all sections of the state.

Heil declared he was pledged to no special interests or group. His sole desire, he said, was to serve "the state that has been so good to me."

Posses Battle And Capture 13 Boys and Girls

Three of Prisoners are Wounded in Fight in Montana

Livingston, Mont.—(7)—Posses of sheriff's officers waged a gun battle in the Crazy mountains of southern central Montana this morning to capture 13 boys and girls. Sheriff Taylor M. Darroch said the group admitted escaping from the South Dakota Industrial School Sunday night.

Two boys and a girl suffered bullet wounds.

All 13 of the escapers had traveled in one coupe.

The injured were William Morrison, 17, wounded twice in the arm when Sheriff Ed Bartels of Big Timber, Mont., fired at the party's fleeing car yesterday after being assaulted at a filling station, and Loreta Masahack, 17, and Virgil Britton, 17, wounded in an exchange of gun fire with officers this morning. The other 10 were placed in jail.

Nearly 100 in Search

Nearly 100 southern Montana peace officers and volunteer deputies started searching through the Crazy mountain foothills after Sheriff Bartels was assaulted. They kept up the hunt all night.

Sheriff Darroch said the fugitive party split, seven staying with automobile, which developed mechanical trouble, and the other six going to a sheepherder's abandoned cabin.

At daybreak officers closed in and those in the cabin surrendered without a struggle.

When officers reached the car in Duck Creek canyon, Darroch said, one of the fugitives opened fire with a shotgun and an officer fired through the window of the coupe.

Aryanism Plan Is Mapped in Italy

Doctrine Declares Jews 'Do Not Belong to Italian Race'

Rome.—(7)—A 10-point fascist doctrine of race similar in many respects to Nazi Germany's Aryanism was published today under the auspices of the ministry of popular culture.

The doctrine proclaimed Aryan supremacy and affirmed the Italian race's right to call itself Aryan.

It declared Jews "do not belong to the Italian race."

"Jews represent only a population which never has been assimilated in Italy because they are composed of non-European racial elements absolutely different from the elements from which Italians originated," the declaration said.

A group of fascist university professors were authors of the doctrine.

"The population of present-day Italy," it continued, "is predominantly of Aryan origin and its civilization is Aryan."

"It is time that Italians proclaimed themselves frankly racially conscious. . . This does not mean, however, the introduction into Italy of exotic racial theories as they now exist or the assertion that Italians and Scandinavians are the same thing."

"It means only to point out to Italians the physical, and above all psychological, model of the human race which, because of its purely European character, is separated completely from all non-European races."

(Italy has only about 47,000 Jews in a population of 43,000,000, an Italian official recently explained, and, therefore, "has no Jewish problem.")

Roosevelt in California on National Tour

Governor, Senator and San Francisco Mayor Greet President

WILL REVIEW FLEET

Plans to Deliver Speech at Golden Gate Exposition Grounds

Crockett, Calif.—(7)—President Roosevelt arrived today at this sugar refining town enroute to San Francisco and was met by Governor Frank F. Merriam, Senator William Gibbs McAdoo and Mayor Angelo Rossi of San Francisco.

Aboard President Roosevelt's Train Enroute to San Francisco

—President Roosevelt pushed through to the Pacific coast today on a program much to his liking.

Arranging to arrive at Crockett, near San Francisco, today, his day's plans included a sightseeing and inspection tour in the San Francisco area, a speech at the exposition grounds, and a review of the United States fleet off the city.

The speech, to be delivered at a luncheon in the Golden Gate International exposition grounds administration building, was expected to be one of the most important of his cross-country tour.

The fleet review takes the president back to one of his first loves, the navy, which he served many years as assistant secretary. His plans called for him to board the cruiser Houston at Oakland in mid-afternoon and to stay on her freshly scrubbed decks at least seven hours.

The review was scheduled for 4 p. m. (P.S.T.) (6 p. m., C.S.T.).

Will Go To Yosemite

The president will come ashore about 11 p. m. to enroute for El Portal, entrance to Yosemite National park, which the presidential party will visit tomorrow.

Mr. Roosevelt crossed into California from Nevada last night with only one set speech on his program—that at the exposition building. It was expected, however, that sometime during his three day stay in the state, he will board the Houston at San Diego Saturday afternoon for the Galapagos islands—he will have some kind words to say for "Dear Mac," Senator William G. McAdoo, who is seeking renomination.

The president wrote McAdoo some weeks ago, starting his letter with the familiar salutation and indicating an interest in the veteran California's return to the senate.

Mentions Candidates

During a day in Nevada, the chief executive made no reference to the Democratic senatorial primary fight and only the barest allusions to the candidates.

With Senator Pat McCarran, who opposed several major administration measures, and Albert Hilliard, McCarra's primary opponent, by his side on the rear platform of his train, the president referred twice to "your senator," spoke once of "brother Hilliard" and another time of "Al Hilliard."

The president's trip today takes him through Vallejo to the Mare Island Navy yard, which he will inspect, then on to San Rafael, Sausalito, the Fort Mason military reservation, San Francisco city hall civic center and the exposition grounds. His route crosses the Carquinez, Golden Gate and San Francisco-Oakland bay bridges.

Dies as Result Of 9-Foot Fall

Henry Nabbefeldt, 67, Was Hurt Repairing Roof Of Home

Henry Nabbefeldt, 67, 22 N. Sherman place, died at 7:30 this morning of complications resulting from injuries suffered in a fall recently. He fell nine feet from a scaffolding while shingling the roof at his home.

Mr. Nabbefeldt was born Oct. 22, 1870 in Appleton and lived here his entire life and for 35 years was assistant manager of the Continental Clothing company. He was a member of the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin.

Survivors are two daughters, Miss Louise Nabbefeldt and Miss Helen Nabbefeldt, Appleton; five sons, Edward, Louis, Clement, Richard and George Appleton; one sister, Mrs. Peter Schwilbach, Appleton; and twelve grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at 9:30 Saturday morning at the Schomer Funeral home with services at 10 o'clock at St. Joseph's church. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery. The body will be at the funeral home from tomorrow afternoon until time of services. The Catholic Knights will hold a prayer service at the funeral home at 8 o'clock Friday evening.

Police Equip Selves With Spears, Firemen Try Water but Big Snake Refuses to Budge From Under Barn

Menasha.—The snake—boa constrictor, python or other variety—which escaped from a carnival two weeks ago and has since been making its home in an old barn off Garfield avenue, apparently has no desire to cooperate with Menasha's big game hunters.

Since the alarm was given Wednesday morning, only one glimpse has been caught of the snake and that was only the tip of the tail, wiggling in sort of a defiant way as the snake slipped under the barn.

Efforts to locate the snake were continued Wednesday afternoon and this morning. The police department mounted several small spears on the ends of small poles to be used in holding the snake down if it is sighted. The fire department attempted to flood the snake out of the barn yesterday afternoon but the water only soaked into the sawdust fill which forms most of the lot.

Rumors of a reward of $150 for the capture of the snake resulted in numerous volunteer searches. Police Chief Alex Slomski, however, denied that there was any reward offered. The only tangible evidence discovered Wednesday afternoon was a section of dry snake-skin, shed by some reptile this spring.

However, the section discovered reportedly to be 10 or 12 feet long as it was hardly 2 inches in diameter. The pigeons in the loft were not disturbed by the snake last night. Hunters this morning imagined that the warm sunshine might bring the reptile out. If the sun doesn't do it, the snake will move again when it gets hungry.

Civil Aviation Group Meets to Form New Agency

Group Has Independent Administrator as Well as Commission

Washington.—(7)—Members of the new civil aeronautics authority gathered today to organize what some administration advisers call a model regulatory agency.

In a sense, it is President Roosevelt's long-delayed reply to a supreme court decision which blocked any White House control over the executive functions of independent agencies.

The new body differs from similar agencies, such as the interstate commerce commission, in that it consists of an independent administrator as well as a commission.

This administrator is responsible to the president and exercises all the agency's executive authority. The board is responsible to congress, and its duties are confined to quasi-judicial and legislative actions.

Headed by Noble

Edward J. Noble, wealthy industrialist, called the board together today in his capacity as chairman. Other members are:

Harley Branch, second assistant postmaster general, vice chairman; G. Grant Mason, Pan-American Airways official; Robert Hinkley, WPA director for Far Western states; and Oswald Ryan of Anderson, Ind., general counsel for the federal power commission.

Clinton M. Hester, assistant treasury general counsel, has been assigned the independent administrative position. He helped write the legislation creating the authority.

The authors of the aviation legislation, Hester said, wanted to set up an agency which would permit the president to retain control of the executive functions of the authority while delegating the other work to a board answerable only to congress. The CAA was the result.

There is also a third party to the agency. It is a separate three-man safety board, provided at the request of air line pilots who argued such an arrangement would result in more accurate reports on accidents and more thorough planning of safety measures.

CIO Members are Driven From Town

750 Forced to Leave Lumber Company-Owned Community

Westwood, Calif.—(7)—Small groups of CIO unionists and their women and children, 750 of whom were driven from Westwood yesterday after a riot between lumber labor factions, struggled back here today asking to be allowed to get their belongings.

One man was shot and 30 others were beaten in the street battle that almost brought national guard and coast artillery troops to his lumber company-owned town.

Sheriff's officers augmented by 800 deputized citizens, armed with rifles and clubs, and 20 state highway patrolmen, patrolled the town today. Local authorities said the returning CIO families would be allowed to enter, one by one, and take their household possessions away with them.

The CIO sawmill workers and their families camped on the highway last night between Westwood and Red Bluff, 80 miles west of here.

Red Bluff police drove the CIO refugees out of town. They had planned to hold a mass meeting there last night.

Yesterday's street battle climaxed a strike called by the CIO unionists last Thursday night against the Red River Lumber company. The CIO group had objected to a 17 1/2 percent wage cut. The mills closed Monday.

No Prosecution Will Result From Tragedy

Madison.—(7)—District Attorney Lyall T. Beggs said today that an inquest into the deaths of Gunnar Larson, 35, of Chicago, and Walter Allen, 42, of Madison, had produced no grounds for prosecution.

Larson and Allen, employees of the Jacobson Brothers Construction company of Chicago, were crushed Thursday by a concrete wall while working on a new wing of the Memorial Union building at the University of Wisconsin.

A coroner's jury found late yesterday that the company, Victor Jacobson, a vice president, and Laus Nelson, foreman, "failed to observe ordinary care and precaution by not providing a proper brace for the wall," but that the omission did not constitute gross negligence.

Triple Slayer Given Three Life Sentences

Minneapolis.—(7)—August Yaeger, alias Robert McLeod, was sentenced yesterday to three separate terms of life imprisonment for the murder of a young married farm couple and their hired man.

Yaeger pleaded guilty of arraignment just two hours after a grand jury returned the indictment.

He was sentenced by Judge Lars O. Rue for the shooting of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Oswald, 24, and their hired man, John Kujawa, 25, as they slept on the Oswald farm, five miles from Osseo, Minn., last Thursday.

Yaeger admitted he killed the three because he was afraid they might hear him while stealing cattle.

Yaeger was taken to Stillwater penitentiary. He was indicted, arraigned and sentenced to life within 10 hours.

Plane Flies Over Wisconsin on Way to New York

SEEN AT APPLETON

Travels About 4 Miles Per Minute Across State

Two Rivers, Wis.—(7)—Howard Hughes' record-breaking round-the-world monoplane streaked over Two Rivers at 9:29 a. m. C. S. T. today, leaving Wisconsin behind as it roared toward the New York finish line in its race against time.

An officer at the coast guard station, describing the flight over this resort city, said:

"The ship was flying very high. I heard the motors and looked up, but the plane had passed over the

Sight Hughes Plane Here This Morning

Howard Hughes and his four companions blazed through the skies about 11 miles north of Appleton at 9:19 this morning on their round-the-world dash. The plane was sighted by six observers at the Outagamie county airport who identified the plane by its twin motors, twin rudders and silver finish.

It was estimated that the ground speed was 235 miles an hour with a 35-mile an hour tail wind. It was said the plane was flying at 8,000 or 9,000 feet.

A number of other persons in Appleton and vicinity reported they saw the plane as it sped eastward on the final leg of its flight. It passed over the north city limit of Kaukauna and a large number of persons there were thrilled by the sight of the machine.

Thousands of persons along Hughes' route over Wisconsin craned their necks for a glimpse of the fast plane. Many were disappointed, however. Among the latter were Green Bay residents, hundreds of whom scrambled to the rooftops and waited in vain as he passed south of the city.

Peter Platten, amateur radio operator at Green Bay, reported picking up a message from the plane that at 9:47 a. m. it was approximately 15 miles northeast of Sheboygan.

Marshfield reported the plane at 8:55 a. m. The plane was later, it zipped over Stevens Point.

Adjourn Inquiry Into Practices of Milwaukee Firms

Madison.—(7)—The securities division of the state banking commission yesterday adjourned its inquiry into the business practices of two Milwaukee investment houses until July 18 when final arguments are scheduled.

The two concerns are the American Bond and Share company, Sidney Clark, president, and the Northwestern Securities and Investment company, Leon B. Smith, president. The American company is applying for a license, while the commission is considering the question of revoking the license of the latter. A third Milwaukee concern, the Wisconsin Bond and Share company, withdrew its application for a license at the outset of the hearing yesterday, saying it had little "hope" of a favorable ruling, and that an appeal would require too much time.

Final arguments on the license application of the Otto P. Hunt company, another Milwaukee investment firm, will be heard the same day. The commission contended the Hunt company sold unregistered Continental Public Service Class A common stock in the state last year.

Triple Slayer Given Three Life Sentences

Minneapolis.—(7)—August Yaeger, alias Robert McLeod, was sentenced yesterday to three separate terms of life imprisonment for the murder of a young married farm couple and their hired man.

Yaeger pleaded guilty of arraignment just two hours after a grand jury returned the indictment.

He was sentenced by Judge Lars O. Rue for the shooting of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Oswald, 24, and their hired man, John Kujawa, 25, as they slept on the Oswald farm, five miles from Osseo, Minn., last Thursday.

Yaeger admitted he killed the three because he was afraid they might hear him while stealing cattle.

Yaeger was taken to Stillwater penitentiary. He was indicted, arraigned and sentenced to life within 10 hours.

DROWNING VICTIM

Russell Holland, 7, above, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Holland, 714 N. Durkee street, drowned in the Fox river yesterday afternoon when he fell off a wall into the old mill race at the tissue mill near John street. His body was recovered within a half hour but attempts to revive him failed.

Boy, 7, Slips Off Wall and Drowns In Old Mill Race

Companion Makes Unsuccessful Effort to Pull Chum to Safety

Russell Holland, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Holland, 714 N. Durkee street, drowned in the Fox river at the old Tissue mill near John street shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when he fell off a wall.

Kenneth Behrendt, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Behrendt, 214 E. Atlantic street, who was playing with Holland on the wall made a brave but unsuccessful attempt to rescue his playmate. Kenneth jumped into the water and grabbed his chum but was unable to hold onto him. He began to slip when his foot touched a rock and he was able to clamber to safety.

Young Holland was walking north along the second wall just east of the old Tissue mill and fell when he was about half way across. He fell into what was at one time a mill race.

Lester Lausman, 203 S. Memorial drive, helping the police in the search, found the body and brought it to shore. Resuscitation was tried but failed. Firemen also applied a mechanical resuscitation but without results. The boy was in the water less than a half hour.

Funeral Saturday

He was born Feb. 3, 1931, in Appleton and attended the first grade at Columbus school. He also was a member of the Sunday school class of the Emmanuel Evangelical church.

Survivors are the parents; a sister, Janice at home; a brother, Donald at home; and three grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. August Hoppe, Appleton, and Mrs. S. N. Brandon, Royal Oak, Mich.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 Saturday morning at the Wichmann Funeral home with the Rev. G. H. Blum, pastor of the Emmanuel Evangelical church, in charge. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery. The body will be at the funeral home from this afternoon until the time of the funeral.

Vandenberg Favors Special Session On Court Appointment

Traverse City, Mich.—(7)—United States Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) suggested in a speech here last night that President Roosevelt call the senate into extra session before Oct. 1 to pass on the successor to the late Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo of the supreme court.

Speaking at the annual Traverse City Cherry festival, Vandenberg paid tribute to the late justice as "a thorough-going liberal in every sense of that often abused word," an urged that his successor might have "these same essential qualities."

Vandenberg pointed out that because the senate would not ordinarily meet until next January, the new justice "may serve on the court for three months before he has been confirmed by the senate." Supreme court appoints, the senator said "are the most important that fall to the president," and "the character, the qualifications and the attitudes of one judge upon the highest court may, upon occasion, direct the destiny of America. . . ."

Missing Girls Found In Michigan Camp

Newberry, Mich.—(7)—Elzie Tarcai and Mildred Clivik, two Cleveland, Ohio, young women who became lost in the Tahquamenon swamp north of Newberry Wednesday, were found late yesterday, both suffering from insect bites but otherwise none the worse for their experience. They said they had become lost in the dense undergrowth and winding trails.

Huge Wave Takes Lives of Five in Lake Michigan

Holland, Mich.—(7)—A huge wave, described by coast guardsmen as the worst they ever had seen, took the lives of five persons along the eastern shore of Lake Michigan late yesterday.

At least a score of others were rescued as mountainous waves pounded the shore.

At Ottawa beach, near Holland, the undertow swept two young women and a man out into the lake. They were identified as Katherine Schutt, 19, of Beaver Dam, Mich.; Ruth Riksen, 19, of Kansas City, Mo.; and Herbert Bowers, 34, of Grand Rapids, Mich. Their bodies were recovered.

John D. Lent, Jr., 20, of Peru, Ill., drowned at Pentwater, north of here, when the waves capsized his canoe.

Oscar Thorsen, 49, was drowned while swimming offshore near Muskegon.

Wildly Cheering Crowd Grets Five Speed Fliers

NEW RECORD IS SET

Group More Than Halves Mark Set by Wiley Post

Floyd Bennett Airport, New York.—(7)—Howard Hughes and his four fellow world-girdlers landed at Floyd Bennett airport at 1:37 p. m., eastern standard time, (12:37 Appleton time) today with a smashing new round-the-world record of less than four days.

The big silver monoplane circled the field twice before coming down to an easy landing before a wildly cheering crowd.

The total elapsed time for the dash around the globe was set officially at 91 hours, 17 minutes, or 3 days, 19 hours and 17 minutes.

The multimillionaire speedster whipped in from the west under a threatening overcast sky with a record that more than halved the 7 day, 18 hour, 40 minute round-the-world time established in 1933 by the late Wiley Post, a mark then regarded as sensational.

Hughes drove the ship at full speed on the last lap of the flight from Minneapolis to Floyd Bennett airport, whence he took off at 6:20 p. m. (E. S. T.) Sunday. A spanking tail wind helped him along.

Tumultuous Welcome

His speed for the elapsed time was approximately 161 miles per hour.

A fire whistle let go with a seething blast as the aerial argonauts set their plane down on the concrete runway and taxied toward the administration building.

Hundreds of automobile horns joined in a tumultuous welcoming. Despite elaborate precautions to protect the plane, a surging crowd drove through to get a close-up glimpse of the unshaven, disheveled heroes.

Hughes apparently did not notice a path which had been cleared for him and he taxied toward a commercial transport plane, which was immediately moved.

Minneapolis Stop

Hughes and his companions' last stop before New York was at Minneapolis, Minn., at 7:38 a. m. (E. S. T.) after a 2,441-mile flight from Fairbanks, Alaska, over the Canadian Rockies, down the great wastes of the Yukon and the barrens of northwest Canada.

After a 33-minute halt at the airport there they roared off at top speed for New York. A strong tail wind shoved the ship along at high speed over this 1,054-mile last lap.

They were reported at various points along the route, their progress cheered by the crowd which had gathered at Floyd Bennett field. It was estimated by officials at about 25,000.

Whalen Greets Fliers

Grover Whalen, president of the world's fair, 1939, for which the flight was designed as a good will venture, was the first to greet the fliers.

In striking contrast to the tired fliers, he entered the plane immediately after it came to a stop. Following him came Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, himself a flier of World war days.

The impeccably dressed Whalen presented two large baskets of flowers.

At 1:47 p. m. E. S. T., 10 minutes after the ship landed, Hughes stepped down, followed by his four companions.

Those who accompanied him on the flight were Lieutenant Harry P. Connor, navigator; Lieutenant Thomas L. Thurlow, navigator; Edward Lund, flight engineer; and Richard Stoddard, radio engineer.

Crowd Out of Control

The plane had come to rest on exactly the same spot from which it started Sunday afternoon.

Police found it impossible to control the mass of humanity which swarmed around the plane 20 deep. For fully five minutes the fliers

General Sales Tax Seen Under Security Plan

Expert Thinks Pay Roll Levies Will Be Replaced In Five or Ten Years

Washington—(17)—An expert close to the social security tax predicted today a general sales tax eventually would replace pay roll levies to finance old age pensions.

He said this might happen in five or ten years, depending on how the scope of the social security act is broadened.

The expert who declined use of his name, asserted the projected inclusion of farmers and other self-employed persons in the security system would make the pay roll tax too clumsy and burdensome.

At present, both the employee and his employer pay an old age tax of 1 percent on the employee's salary. These will rise to 3 percent each in 1940. A farmer, being his own employer, could not be asked to pay a 6 percent tax on his cash income, the expert explained.

In addition to farmers, the social security board wants to include domestic servants, marine workers and employees of educational and charitable institutions.

May Broadens Scope

Because thousands of persons divide their working years between working for others and for themselves, the informant said, the system eventually may include all income-earning persons. The pension scale probably would not be very different from the $10 to $85 per month now provided for payment beginning in 1942.

When that happens, he predicted, the annual cost of pensions will be about $6,000,000,000, or a sum equal to about 10 percent of the estimated national income for this year. The highest federal revenue ever achieved in one year was $6,700,000,000. This year's federal income is expected to be only $5,000,000,000.

The expert suggested the government might adopt a small earnings tax of 2 or 3 percent on income between $300 and $3,000 a year, which would raise about $1,000,000,000 but would be intended primarily as a means of registering the persons eligible for pensions.

The bulk of the cost, he said, would have to be financed by some other general and productive tax such as a sales tax. He contended that a general tax could be fair in such a system because virtually everyone would be eligible for pensions.

Government Loans

On Wheat Average 59-60 Cents Bushel

Washington—(17)—The government offered loans averaging 59 to 60 cents a bushel on 1938 wheat today to farmers wanting to store their crops for better prices.

Secretary Wallace announced the complex scale of loan rates. It varied from as low as 50 cents a bushel for some wheat farmers holding their grain on the farm to as high as 82 cents at the grain terminal for the highest protein spring wheat.

The new farm law made the loans mandatory when agriculture department experts forecast a huge wheat crop, far in excess of a normal year's domestic consumption and export needs of about 750,000,000 bushels.

Wallace's scales set up a system of base loan rates for the major terminal markets. They range from 67 to 81 cents a bushel. The scale then fixed certain deductions to be made from these base rates in figuring loans for wheat stored at varying distances from the terminals.

Wheat stored on the farm, or in local warehouses, or elevators, will bring the cooperating farmer the base rate for the terminal serving his territory less freight charges and a 4-cent a bushel handling charge.

Complete Installation

Of Mains on 2 Streets

Installation of water mains on N. Division street and Arnold street has been completed, according to Ervin Towner, distribution superintendent of the water works department. About 700 feet of 6-inch main was laid on Division street and about 400 feet on Arnold street.

Workmen Build Drain

Into Elm Street Sewer

A drain leading through an old flume into a storm sewer on Elm street is being installed by water works department workmen. The drain will take care of water now running from the hill on Elm street near the water plant.

Brief Sketches of Lives Of Men on Hughes Plane

New York—(17)—Here are the five men who set out in a giant silver monoplane last Sunday to circle the globe, seeking to set a time-record for a round-the-world flight. One of America's most unpretentious young millionaires, Howard Hughes, 33, left on the greatest flight of his career with his sleeves rolled up and his collar open—tieless, and wearing baggy slacks.

His garb was characteristic of the shy, quiet sportsman-aviator who made his first air jaunt at 14 in a battered seaplane.

The happiest days of his life have been spent in old clothes, on the windy airways of the world. He was born on Christmas eve, in Houston, Texas, and inherited a $17,000,000 fortune at 16 from his father, who invented a new type of oil-well drill, and founded the Hughes Tool company.

Hughes helped run the tool business after his father's death, and then went to California to live with his uncle, Rupert Hughes, the novelist.

Successful in Movies

He was close to the movie colony, and decided to use part of his inheritance to make movies. His first movie, "Everybody's Acting," showed a 150 per cent return on the investment. His second was even more successful.

At 25, he produced "Hell's Angels," which cost $4,000,000—Hollywood called it "Hughes's Folly"—and it yielded a $3,000,000 profit.

Since 1932, lanky, dark-haired Hughes has devoted his time and money to aviation, making himself one of the world's outstanding pilots.

He broke the world's land speed record when he was 30, over Santa Ana, Calif. His speed was 352.388 miles an hour. He followed with other records.

On Jan. 19, 1937, he broke his own transcontinental record by racing from Los Angeles to New York in 7 hours 28 minutes 25 seconds—an average speed of 332 miles an hour.

For his 1936 exploits Hughes received the greatest aviation award, the Harmon medal, presented to him by President Roosevelt in behalf of the Ligue Internationale des Aviateurs.

He is 6 feet 3 inches tall, modest and mild-mannered. His name has been linked romantically with that of Katharine Hepburn, movie actress.

Stoddard Radio Engineer

Richard Stoddard, 37, radio engineer, was the only New Yorker on the plane. He attended public schools here and high school in Newark, N. J.; went to work at 11, when his parents died, and has worked as radio operator on ships, planes and land stations. He obtained leave of absence as radio engineer from a network to join the Hughes organization. His attractive young wife, Rosemary Stoddard, listens for his voice by radio in a mid-town hotel.

Navigator Thomas L. Thurlow is 33, a native of Santa Ana, Calif., a former student at Lehigh Stanford university, the army flying school and a graduate of Kelly field, Texas. He is a first lieutenant in the army air corps, and is working on the development of air navigation instruments. He is married, and has a 3-year-old son, Tommy, Jr., who celebrated the plane's arrival at Le Bourget by rushing around a New York hotel room shouting, "Daddy's in Paris!"

Alternate Engineer

Edward Lund, Hughes alternate engineer, mechanic, was born in 1906 in Montana, and started work for an automobile company in Kalispell, Mont.

He has held important jobs in airplane factories, and became associated with Hughes in 1932.

A native of Passaic, N. J., Harry P. McLean Connor, 38, started as a navigating officer at sea, after studying under tutors and in private schools.

For four years, he was on the navigation bridge of Panama-Pacific line vessels. He served as air navigator for Roger G. Williams in 1929 and 1930, later divided his time between the air and the sea, and has been specializing in seadromes. His wife and Mrs. Thurlow heard many of the reports of the plane's progress together.

Deaths of Injuries

Superior—(17)—R. A. Clemens, 43, injured in an automobile collision Sunday, died yesterday. His death marked the first traffic fatality in Douglas county this year.

Data on Hughes Plane and Around-the-World Flight

New York—(17)—Here is a thumbnail sketch of the Hughes plane, cost, flight stops and other pertinent data:

Lockheed 14, monoplane, dual Wright cyclone motors developing 1,100 horsepower each.

The plane has a wing span of 65 feet 6 inches and is 44 feet 4 inches in length. Its fuel capacity is 1,750 gallons, of which 1,200 gallons are in the main storage tanks. Its flight range, at cruising speed, is 4,700 miles.

The cost, with special equipment, has been estimated at $200,000.

Equipment:

Both motors are equipped with Hamilton Standard hydromatic propellers with variable pitch. A Sperry gyroscope, three radios with range from 333 to 22,080 kilocycles, and a voice broadcasting radio are included in the special apparatus.

Emergency equipment includes two rubber life-rafts, each capable of keeping aloft the crew of five men, five parachutes each containing an emergency ration pack sufficient for 30 days, plus fishing tackle, hunting knife and first aid kit. Oxygen tanks are carried as are flares and in the nose of the ship are searchlights behind Plexiglass.

Flight cost:

Flight headquarters estimates the cost of the flight at $500,000.

Fuel:

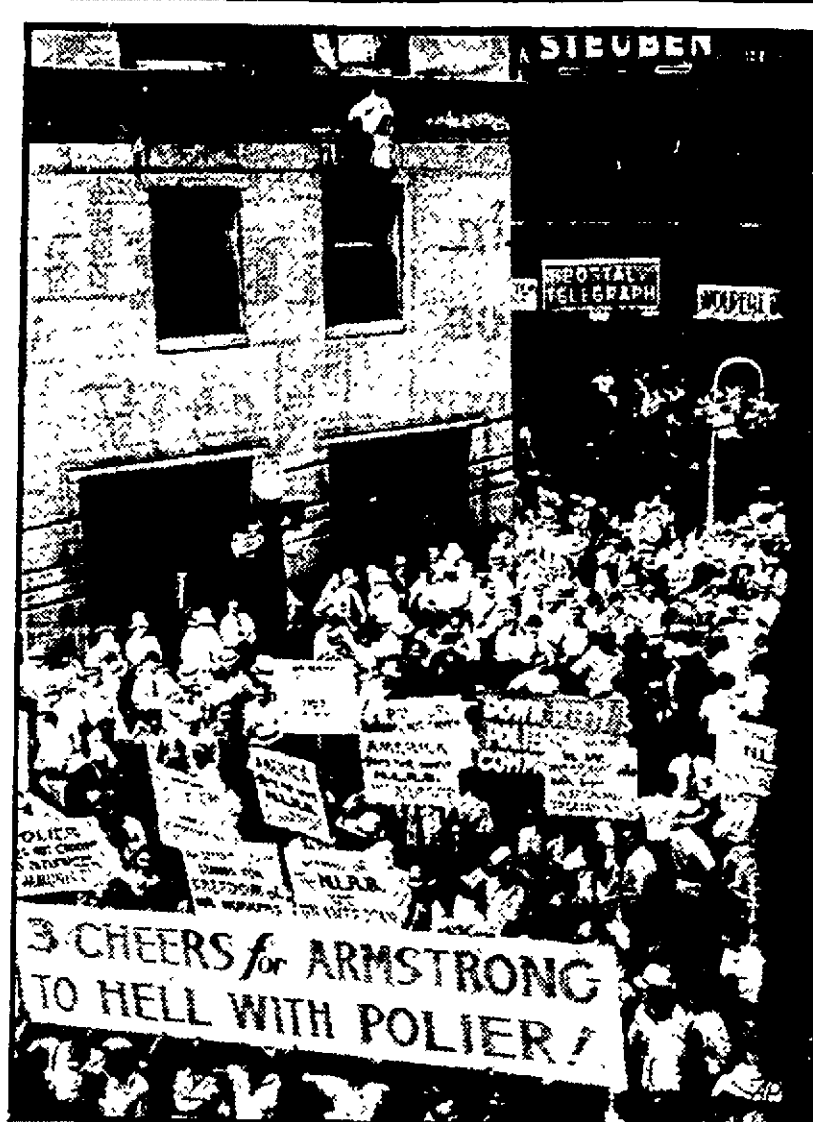

Gasoline consumption is figured at the rate of 72 gallons per hour, approximately 3 miles per gallon.

Calendar of stops:

Le Bourget field, Paris, France, 3,241 miles; Paris to Moscow, 1,675 miles; Moscow to Omsk, 1,380 miles; Omsk to Yakutsk, 2,177 miles; Yakutsk to Fairbanks, Alaska, 2,456 miles; Fairbanks to Minneapolis, 2,441 miles; Minneapolis to New York, 1,054 miles. Total distance—14,824 miles.

Crew:

Howard Hughes, pilot and owner; Edward Lund, flight engineer; Thomas Thurlow, co-pilot navigator; Harry P. Connor, co-pilot and navigator; Richard Stoddard, radio engineer.

STEEL WORKERS JEER LABOR BOARD

3,600,000 Trees Planted In Wisconsin Shelterbelt

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—A total of 3,600,000 trees, which if planted in a single row would represent 1,435 miles, have been planted in the state's central Wisconsin shelterbelt project, one of Wisconsin's most significant cooperative conservation ventures, Clyde T. Smith, district forester, reported today.

The central Wisconsin shelterbelt program was begun four years ago, and comprises Waushara, Portage, Waupaca, Wood, Marquette, Adams and Juneau counties which in the summer of 1934 were struck by one of the most devastating sandstorms in the history of that section.

The shelterbelt program is designed to prevent the damage to these annually recurring sandstorms, which records show are practically certain to arrive in May or June because of the predominantly sandy soil and the lack of a natural tree protection, Smith explains.

"The soil drifting may be likened to a winter blizzard that fills in fence lines and ditches along the highway," Smith points out. "The soil from one farmer's land may literally be transported to another farm in the next county. In the most serious storm, that of 1934, Smith points out, the new seeding was blown from one field to another, making it necessary for the farmers to replant entire crops where there was no protection from wood lots or belts of trees along the field boundaries.

Surveys by state officials and county agents who have worked on the project with local farmers show that at least 8,000,000 trees will be needed to complete the central Wisconsin project. Completion is in sight by 1944, according to Forester Smith.

The largest number of trees was delivered to farmers during the last spring, when 2,000 participated in plantings on their farms. The Central State Nursery at Wisconsin Rapids has furnished almost all of the stock used in the program.

Benefits to be gained from the job are listed by Forester Smith as follows: Protection of adjacent fields from wind erosion; increasing soil moisture by decreasing evaporation; (3) increasing soil moisture by causing snow to drift instead of blowing off the field; (4) increasing and providing suitable homes for wild life, especially birds which are so necessary in insect control; (5) the creation of living snow traps along the highways; (6) increase the quality and quantity of the farmers' crops; (7) increasing the beauty of the countryside.

Farmer Is Accused of Assault on Postmistress

Stevens Point—(17)—Glenn Wolcott, 40, Portage county farmer, was charged with assault today in the beating of Mrs. Carrie Kyser, Codrington postmistress.

Mrs. Kyser, in a hospital here, told authorities Wolcott hit her with a crank handle Tuesday why she told him there was no mail for him. Officers said Wolcott, arrested in Adams county last night, told them he thought Mrs. Kyser had a check he was expecting and wouldn't give it to him.

Former Prosecutor Dies

Darlington, Wis.—(17)—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for Paul B. Conley, 39, former district attorney of Lafayette county, who died Tuesday.

Over 200 Farmers Shipping Milk to Cooperative Here

Shawano Firm Starts Re-Equipping Program at Mason Street Plant

More than 200 farmers from Outagamie, Winnebago, and Calumet counties are shipping milk to the plant of the Consolidated Badger Cooperative which recently bought buildings and equipment of the Outagamie Milk and Produce company at 1205 N. Mason street.

Neal McBeath, manager of the new dairy, reported yesterday that since the company, which has its head offices in Shawano, set up the plant here, a re-equipping program has been started. The Consolidated Badger company has been operating here since June 4.

Within the last month, a new cream cooler, two new pasteurizing tanks, and a new 5,000-gallon holding tank and a renewed 2,000-gallon tank have been added to the plant's equipment. More improvements are being planned.

Establishment of a plant here by the Shawano company came about in this manner: When the Potts Wood and Company creamery went into receivership, its former patrons started the Appleton Cooperative Dairy. They "borrowed" a manager from the Consolidated Badger company at Shawano to help them with their organization and operation.

Finally, the Appleton Cooperative members joined the Consolidated Badger and the Shawano company bought out the Outagamie Milk and Produce company. The Appleton Cooperative terminated its lease on the Potts Wood buildings.

Shook Not Requisite

Shippers who are members of the Consolidated Badger Cooperative do not have to own common stock in the company, McBeath said yesterday, but all share dividends. The dividends are not paid in cash but applied in two ways. First, if the shipper does not have any common stock, he uses his dividends for the purchase of it; and second, if he owns at least a $50 share of common stock, he may apply the dividends on five per cent preferred stock.

The dairy is under the jurisdiction of the Chicago board of health. The milk comes from farms inspected by a representative of the Chicago board, who spends all his time in this vicinity.

The Consolidated Badger Cooperative of Shawano has plants at Appleton, Shawano, Tigerton, Bonduel, and Eland, with more than 1,000 farmers delivering milk regularly to the five dairies.

Duluth Man Is Facing Charges in Illinois

LaCrosse—(17)—Robert Pond, Duluth, held here more than a month on a charge of being an accessory in the murder of Police Officer Joseph Donndelinger, has been turned over to Bloomington, Ill., officers for prosecution on burglary and kidnapping charges. He too had been named in a warrant charging he was an accessory in the slaying.

His cousin, Floyd Wagner, Carrollton, Ill., is serving a life term in Wisconsin State prison for the Donndelinger murder.

Sewage Fertilizer Sales

Net $60.25 During June

Fertilizer sales at the Appleton Sewage Treatment plant during June netted $60.25, according to C. O. Baetz, plant superintendent. Fertilizer is available at the plant for $1.50 per hundred pounds either in sacks or barrels, Baetz said.

Roosevelt Owes Hoover Apology, Lawrence Says

President's Spending Program Greater Than That of Predecessor

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Four billion dollars—it might be about four or five cents as far as the Roosevelt administration is concerned—is the new deficit for next year. And there isn't a word of regret as to the circumstances which produced the Roosevelt depression and brought about the new series of deficits, nor is there a word of hope as to when the government of the United States is going to begin paying back the debt it has borrowed and is continuing to borrow. "For three long years," said

President Roosevelt to a joint session of congress in March, 1933, "we have been on the road toward bankruptcy." The deficits then were small—for all three years they had totaled less than five billion dollars. The public debt was only about $20,000,000,000 in 1933. Now the deficits are running $4,000,000,000 a year and the public debt is approaching $40,000,000,000 for the federal government alone, which, taken together with the state and city debt of another $20,000,000,000, makes the approaching total around $60,000,000,000—the largest public debt of any country in the whole world.

So far as the Roosevelt regime is concerned, it believes apparently that borrowing can go on indefinitely. It would not be such a disconcerting picture if the administration had shown some signs of cutting expenses when "recovery" was supposed to have come in 1936 and early 1937. But the expenses were steadily rising then too, irrespective of the improvement in receipts.

The debt load, naturally, is felt in higher and higher prices. The "new taxes" hereabouts usually answer all controversy about debts with the off-hand statement that the British taxpayer has a heavier per capita tax than have American taxpayers. But it is significant to note that the British people, with twice as large a per capita debt as ours, are paying only moderately heavier per capita taxes. This, says the July number of the National City Bank bulletin which has made a special study of the subject, "is evidently due to a lower level of government operating expenses—exclusive of interest—than in this country."

What is important in comparison to Great Britain or any other country is not the amount of taxes, but the rate at which the debt and the taxes are both climbing. Thus, since 1930, the British have increased their debt by 63 per cent, whereas, in the same period, the United States has increased her debt by 63 per cent—a phenomenal rate of rise in a debt structure.

This, moreover, does not include so-called guaranteed obligations, in which the United States treasury stands back of the bonds or notes and on which there is a risk of a certain percentage of loss. For the treasury must make up any losses to the holders of these securities. What this loss might be cannot be estimated for a number of years, but the public debt, even without these contingent liabilities, is approaching an astounding total.

President Roosevelt has referred to the debt question only as being part of a program of a "human balance sheet." It is much the same answer monarchs and executives have given since the beginning of time. In a democracy, debt incurred in one year does not begin to be felt for many years thereafter—when the ruler or executive who was responsible for the policy is already out of office. Mr. Roosevelt may glibly speak of "human balance sheets" and talk gayly of "liberalism," but the cold dollars and cents situation of a debt-ridden country, which either has to pay back these immense debts or consent directly or indirectly to repudiation of debt, does not disappear through any barrage of words or excuses.

Drifting

Mr. Roosevelt has estimated the deficit for the coming fiscal year at around $4,000,000,000, but he has figured in only eight months of WPA. The prospect is that the deficit will go much higher than $4,000,000,000. The biggest issue before the country, indeed, is "liberalism," that is, liberality with the taxpayer's money or thrift, waste and extravagance, or prudence and thrift. Nowhere on his trip across the continent has the president offered the slightest suggestion as to how the nation is going to cope with the enormous debt it now faces. In the absence of a concrete program, the conclusion is inescapable that the administration is drifting opportunistically, and that it has no program for the future except more

Appleton Relief Costs for June Totaled $4,693

Amount Is Increase of $1,869 Over Same Month of Last Year

City relief costs for June amounted to $4,693.85, according to a report compiled by the relief department accounting department for F. A. W. Hammond, city relief director. The amount is $211.23 higher than for May when the cost was $4,482.62 and $1,969.06 higher than for June 1937 when the cost was $2,824.79.

Payments to other counties for clients not residing in the city at present amounted to $240.77, bringing the total cost to the city to $4,934.62. The city also paid out $1,019 for county charges but will be reimbursed this amount.

A total of 183 cases were cared for during the month as compared to 185 in May and 105 in June of last year.

Administration costs for the month amounted to $854.93 an increase of $25.84 over May. Provisions cost $2,228.23, an increase of $105.35 over the preceding month. Clothing costs for June totaled $44.69, a decrease of $137.12. Fuel costs also decreased $49.03, being $53.76 for June. Shelter allowance amounted to $791.46, an increase of $60.03.

Other costs included: drugs and equipment $143.56, physicians care $36.40, dental care $50, hospitalization $251.17, miscellaneous $3.65, all other direct relief $39.35 and direct relief paid in cash $15.

President Roosevelt is now on the Pacific coast. While there, he might well find time to call on Herbert Hoover at Palo Alto and offer his sincere apologies for that speech made by Mr. Roosevelt in March, 1933, when he accused his predecessor of plunging the nation on the road "toward bankruptcy" at a time when the total debt incurred to fight the then existing depression was less than $5,000,000,000. Now almost that amount is being spent in a single year of the supposedly prosperous years of the abundant life under the administration of the new times.

TOWARD LOCAL CONTROL

Under the orders of the President the federal government will continue the policy of supplying work relief according to its whim or judgment, as you wish, while the states through their municipalities are given the regulation of direct relief.

This looks like a fair enough division, as divisions go, but really, is there any sense to it? Isn't it more to be compared to the division the Pontiff made of the newly discovered world after the voyages of Columbus and quite irrespective of how the continents lay and who would get what?

Why does not the national government adopt such policy as it wishes for the division of funds throughout the country but permit municipalities themselves to take care of the problem of providing both work relief and direct relief? Politics? Certainly. And all politics. To the injury of the country? Certainly. And plentiful injury. But it is the price we pay in addition to salaries to rulers. It reminds us somewhat of the niggardly compensation Bethlehem Steel paid its president, a mere measly $50,000, and then gave him a bonus of about a million.

And because of the dust, confusion and inefficiency, together with the speed-up that results when disaster is imminent, a heavy cloud of doubt and uncertainty has hovered over those in need.

Thus work relief becomes more or less of a political problem in every community. In many places some idea is advanced and pushed by influence and organization irrespective of its merits and when the community does not want it at all. Thus the wastage mounts. Thus relief costs needlessly.

The nation not only by its mistaken policies causes unemployment but pursues the worst known method of handling it.

Still, isn't the President stronger with Barkley because he can throw him thousands of votes in Kentucky by the use of federal money?

THE MILK INVESTIGATION

The grand jury inquiry at Chicago instituted by the Department of Justice to ascertain if federal laws have been broken by those who distribute milk in the Chicago area is not only an advisable but highly essential procedure judged solely by the curiosity of us all concerning the multitude of charges that have been banded around, from dairymen to worker to distributor to consumer and then back again.

In justification of its action the department says that a preliminary investigation, which is by no means final or conclusive, indicates that through price maintenance the producer receives a low price for milk at the very time that the consumer is paying a high price, and that this result "is not accidental but is caused by conspiracies and agreements in restraint of trade."

The farmer in the Chicago milk shed has shown his conviction that his treatment is unjust by staging milk strikes. The consumer cannot strike. Milk is both so desirable and essential that it is bought even when the consumer complains loudly about the price.

Farmer and consumer often look suspiciously at Labor, and the three drink in complaints, charges or suspicions against capital in the person of the distributor with as much relish as either would quaff a pint of cool milk.

The evidence in the Chicago case probably cannot be taken as typical or conclusive of all situations. Changes in demand, labor schedules, increases or decreases in the load the government may put on either the distributor or the farmer, all tend to constantly alter the condition of each of the four important actors involved. Presumably the government would not investigate merely because one of the parties seemed to have an advantage because that condition would be looked upon as temporary, but if the favor that one is receiving may be clearly traced to plot or design, the law is violated and, more important still, a perversion of normal trade is created bound to be highly injurious unless corrected.

If each party involved is clean of wrongdoing the investigation, even with special prosecutors coming on from Washington, will bear no terror but such an inquiry should be welcomed as an intelligent relief from milk wars, violence, and all the other well known elements that prevail in every industry in which racketeering is charged to abound.

SENATOR NORRIS SOLILOQUIZES

From the shady retreat of the Waupaca lakes which Senator Norris prefers to the sun-baked Nebraska landscape the man who is entitled by service to speak as the liberal leader of the country, questions whether, perhaps 30 years hence, another generation of Americans will have to fight a world union of Fascism, "resisting a Fascist wave of aggression" and whether that generation will wonder why we permitted tyranny to grow and spread and then cement its gains.

For as shrewd a senator as has graced congressional halls in two generations we are surprised that the great Nebraskan should voice precisely the same doctrine spoken by Woodrow Wilson and against which the Senator raised his voice and cast his vote on that April day in 1917 when we started out to save the world by crushing imperialism.

What we call Fascism is the natural result of our own blunders. Had we stayed out of the European conflict Fascism would probably be unknown today.

Moreover America is committed to the doctrine, and must support it in every exigency, that those who believe in other forms of government, any form for that matter, may submit their theories to the people for approval or disapproval. Fascism in Germany received a majority vote. In Italy it was so popular that although it was not voted upon no one can reasonably doubt the people's choice were they given the opportunity of making one.

From the start of our nation until 1917 when we entered the World War America had become the most envied nation in the world, not because of wealth because we didn't have it then but because of intelligence tempered by freedom and toleration. Today we are known as the richest country in the world, and, with a few exceptions, the most unhappy.

If we kept our nose at home, or had we the intelligence in high places to understand that imperialism abroad was actually broadening into liberalism, even as monarchy in Sweden, Belgium, Norway, Britain, Holland and Denmark has become the people's government, we would have greatly aided humanity's march of progress, where we succeeded only in turning back the clock.

No doubt Senator Norris was merely thinking out loud in his interview given to the press. Were he empowered to make the decision he certainly would never argue that it is our duty to destroy Fascism today by arms. He would argue, we believe, that America can destroy Fascism just as it weakened imperialism by continuing to support the basic ideals of democracy and giving them the practical turn they have lost in the shuffle.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER'S INSURANCE

The Federal Trade Commission recently filed a report concerning its investigation of the farm implement and machinery industry.

The Commission takes the International Harvester Company to account. The company, on the other hand, calls the report "a witch-burning document" and says the commission would not even permit it to present evidence but proceeded blindly and stubbornly as though set upon by the wanton purpose of injuring the International.

How shall the public judge where the truth lies in such a situation of confusion? Bruce Barton and his plan to prevent new laws notwithstanding, we suggest that recent developments have indicated the virtual necessity of another law. To be precise we need the enactment of a statute reading like this:

"Whenever any committee, bureau, commission or agency of the government shall criticize, blame or denounce any corporation there shall be appended at the conclusion of its report a statement of the various kinds and amounts of insurance carried by that corporation and the names of those who get the business."

FROM SMITH TO LEHMAN

As New York's Governor Lehman becomes a candidate for the senate his friends in order to advance his political fortunes tell about the awful mess he found at Albany when he took over Mr. Roosevelt's place.

The New York state deficit they claim had mounted to $100,000,000, and by good attention to sane government Mr. Lehman in six years has wiped it out.

Before Mr. Roosevelt was governor of New York that state was ruled by one Al Smith who got his start in life as a fish-monger. Mr. Smith became the leading exponent of liberalism in the country, that is excluding all those of royal blood. When he quit the governor's job he left a solvent state with a big balance in the treasury. Two terms of the Great Spender wiped out the balance and left a deficit of $100,000,000.

New York's great luck wasn't in having the Great Spender but in preceding him with a practical fish-monger and following him with an equally practical banker.

Opinions Of Others

A RELAPSE
"Can you cast your mind back to the days before the war when women were still without the right to vote?" asked Holmes.
"Can," replied Gray.
"I can recall still earlier the night news was received of the relief of Mafeking?"
"O rather! What a night!"
"Do you remember," said Holmes impressively, "that a fortnight ago I lent you five dollars?"
"I'm sorry, old chap," apologized Gray.

Dale Harrison's In Old New York

New York—Once more, and finally, I shall bare my fangs at those New York postal workers who for some fantastic reason are designated as Searchers. After all, I'm trying to help. I want them to Amount to Something. I want Postmaster General Farley to be proud of them. I chided you lightly on one previous occasion, gentlemen. I hinted broadly that you were not exercising all the talents I know you possess under those gruff exteriors. What happened? Naught and double-naught. I continue to observe evidences of lackadaisical desuetude in the Searching business.

Your indifference to my kindly motivated remarks has cut me to the quick. Therefore, I shall yank away the velvet glove and lash forth without restraint. A citizen, a taxpayer and a buyer of postage stamps is entitled to some consideration.

Letters intended for me continue to be returned to the senders bearing such stamps as "misdirected" or "not in city directory." Some are stamped with the sign of "Searcher No. 11" and others "Searcher No. 20."

Gentlemen, let us be frank. These letters all could have been delivered if, in the face of incomplete street address, you had troubled yourselves to look in the telephone book.

If you jeer and say I am full of stewed prunes, I shall confound you with proof. I shall tell you what "Searcher No. 4" accomplished under similar conditions, and you will be ashamed, I hope, of yourselves.

A letter for me had no street address. The envelope bore only my name and "New York City." Nevertheless, it was delivered. And why, gentlemen? Because "Searcher No. 4" has a true realization of his responsibility to humanity. He searched. He really went to town. I got the letter.

Therefore, gentlemen, I say that the next time there is a letter for me, put a little pep into your search. Have at it, men! Go forth into the highways and byways and search! Never let it be said that you can't find Harris. It's bad for you, and it makes me feel very insignificant. Always bear in mind that someone has spent three cents for a stamp and is entitled to a little effort. Who can tell? It may be from somebody's mother.

Memo to the editors of Ken: It was nice of you to put my pictures in your June 30th issue right up among all the other gents who write New York columns. But did you have to print five pictures of Leonard Lyons, keeper of the Lyons Den of the New York Evening Post? Honest, did you really have to?

(Shut up, Harrison! We only ran one picture of Winchell, and you don't see him picketing us, do you?)

But you also had two pictures of Dan Walker of the News! And a full length picture of Lucius Beebe wearing an opera coat lined with white silk! Gee Whiz!

(That's easy, Harrison. Walker is the rhumba king of columnists; and a full length picture of you would still be only half length, you saved-off semi-column. And wouldn't you look quaint in a silk lined opera cape. Ho! Ho! Ho! Lilliputian, you're killing us.)

Looking Backward

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, July 17, 1913
General Charles E. Bingham of Oshkosh was to announce that evening that he was retiring from National Guard with which he had served for many years.

Mike Steinhauer was at Sturgeon Bay to purchase a carload of Door county cherries for the Appleton market.

Appleton grocers announced they would hold their first annual local picnic at Waverly beach July 30. In previous years Appleton grocers joined with others in the valley for a picnic.

Postmaster Leonard H. Kimball, pioneer Neenah resident and publisher, died that morning. He was 73 years of age.

The Appleton team of the Wisconsin-Illinois league had dropped to seventh place again, and had lost its last three games.

The marriage of Miss Estelle Kibbie and Fred Nabfeldt took place that morning at Sacred Heart church.

Thursday, July 12, 1928

10 YEARS AGO

John Rupert, 43, Kaukauna, died of injuries received when a horse trampled on him. It is supposed he had fainted while cleaning the animal and fell under the hoofs.

Elwin West was chosen chief pilot for the plane ride of Appleton, at the Whiting airport, it was announced.

Miss Carrie E. Morgan, assistant superintendent of schools, left for Europe to be gone two months.

Grading had started on Wisconsin avenue for paving from Richmond street east to Meade street.

Babe Ruth had batted out 33 home runs so far this year in his effort to surpass 60 for the season. Last year he had hit 29 home runs on the same date.

Excavation had been started for a new theater building at Menasha.

Appleton merchants were conducting a campaign to bring about Friday evening opening of stores, and closing on Saturday evening.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

LIFE'S AUTUMN
When autumn comes, with cold and dreary rains,
And winter threatens: when the rash winds start,
The summer sun will linger in my veins;
The redbird's song will echo in my heart!
The autumn of my life has come, and through the window I can glimpse cold winter's threat;
But in my veins there sings the thought of you,
And in my secret heart love lingers yet!

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—The executive spotlight which switches from time to time on new agencies, has picked out one Lowell Mellett and his National Emergency Council for a period of prominence that shows signs of being far more than temporary.

Mellett was an editor of a Washington newspaper. He had New Deal ideas before 1933 and long has been one of the President's intimates. Now as N.E.C. director, he has been incorporated officially into the White House executive ring to take over a job second in importance only to emergency relief. The job is to manage the President's effort to rescue the South from the economic doldrums.

The Emergency Council, hiding in the obscurity of a thousand half-forgotten bureaus, has been marked for death time after time. Best opinion here is that it was rescued lately mainly as a avenue down which the President could launch his southern enterprise.

Many Are Called

It is a familiar trick of the President's to use first one agency and then another with the scintillating performance of a swingband trap drummer. He financed banks through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, took jobless boys off the streets with CCC, and corralled the unemployed with a half dozen relief agencies. And now, N.E.C. is brought around for the invasion of the South. Its membership once included the entire cabinet, together with the heads of each of the new agencies created under the present administration.

Coordination of policy and elimination of overlapping were its main purposes, and undoubtedly Mellett will continue in that capacity. In addition, it has a whiplash "advisory" power to eliminate duplication of effort among governmental agencies, although since 1935 it has been more in the doldrums than the South it is expected now to stimulate.

Current Washington opinion is that Mellett, soft-voiced and serious-minded, has been singled out to stage one of the new governmental spectacles of 1938, the investigation of what the President calls "the nation's Number 1 economic problem," the South.

Already the suggestion of tampering with established conditions in the South has stirred suspicions of politicians doubtful of the President's purposes. Moreover, northern industry has already looked suspiciously upon an effort to juggle freight rates, wage and hour problems and other industrial factors with a view to mechanizing the South.

Operator, The White House
The job under a General Hugh Johnson might be blown up to amazing proportions. Mellett is no General Johnson, such as NRA knew and his attack on the new phase of his job was un-Johnsonian. He called a conference of southern industrial, labor and economic leaders, as requested by the President. But he read them no orders.

Instead, he asked their opinions on Dixie's troubles with regard to freight rates, cotton surpluses, population surpluses, poorly financed industry and racial conflicts. He promised no immediate solutions, but the President has never been satisfied with a mere report—without recommendations.

Mellett works in his shirt sleeves because it is hot, has four telephones on his desk—one straight to the White House. He is gray-headed, brown-eyed, slender in the manner of a General Johnson or a Harry Hopkins.

But his associates predict his show will be no less dramatic for that, involving as it does federal intervention in a territory belligerently independent and states rightist.

SLOT MACHINE RAIDS

Editor Post-Crescent—Your article in Tuesday's paper told of a raid on 43 taverns by the sheriff's office and only three slot machines were found.

That looks to the casual reader as if Outagamie County deserved a halo for being so free from gambling when so many other counties in the state report large recent seizures of slot machines.

It also looks as if the Appleton Ministerial Association made a lot of hallabaloos about nothing in asking for a clean up of slot machines.

Here are some facts citizens of the county ought to be made acquainted with:

A few days before the raid a group of Appleton citizens made a tour of a good portion of the county.

They visited taverns and drug stores at random on several highways and found 25 machines in eleven different establishments.

In addition to this, one member of the group had personally visited 10 places, and found 25 machines. A total of 21 places visited with 50 machines in evidence.

This survey, backed up by a general acceptance of the fact that slot machines were operating quite generally in the county, justifies the conclusion that the 43 places raided had been operating between 60 and 70 machines. Only three slot machines were found by the officers.

What happened to the other machines, between the time the first two or three places were raided, and

Your Birthday

"CANCER"

If July 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are: from 10:45 a. m. until 12:45 a. m.; from 2:45 to 4:45 p. m., and from 7:45 to 9:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:45 to 10:45 a. m.; from 5:45 to 7:45 p. m., and from 9:45 to 11:45 p. m.

You may have to do some fast thinking this day. Emergencies are likely to arise, requiring mental alertness, if they are to be successfully handled. Bluffing will be a favorite diversion with many blustering persons, providing their victims are foolish enough to tolerate it. Express resentment in no uncertain terms against any form of vituperation, as soon as it begins, if you wish to control any situation this day. You will need a bold front and the courage to speak frankly in order to get through the day with colors flying. You might have to handle money with discretion and speed. Draw your own conclusions; in all likelihood they will be correct ones. In big, as well as little things, married and engaged couples, and sweethearts must be ready to make concessions.

If they wish this to be a peaceful and happy day.

If a woman and July 15 is your birthday, you should have many things to be grateful for, particularly in the way of friendship and demonstrations of family affection. You are likely to do something in a big way. Your imagination may be freely expressed in some art, literary, dramatic or poetic work. You are probably quite a tease, but do not take graciously any attempt to give you a dose of your own medicine. Your marriage ought to turn out exceedingly well, and ultimately enable you to make many of your dreams come true.

The child born on July 15 usually has a very happy childhood, and a harmonious home life on reaching maturity. Patience frequently is one of the outstanding virtues of those who are born on this date.

If a man and July 15 is your natal day, you very likely are talented and have a love for music, literature and the theater. You may be capable of making more than a bare living. Through newspaper, laboratory, chemical, legal, medical, engineering or promotional work your future may be assured.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

TREATMENT OF SINUSITIS
In severe acute sinusitis where there are symptoms or signs (signs are symptoms of the physician) of supuration, empyema, pus formation, abscesses, especially if there are associated general indications of septicemia or septic poisoning, prompt surgical relief is the most conservative treatment. But for ordinary acute sinusitis the simpler and milder the local treatment the better, as a rule, except the careful application of medicinal agents by the physician with a view to shrinking the swollen mucous membrane about the opening from the sinus into the nasal passage, to restore natural drainage of the mucus pent up in the inflamed sinus. When this is successful, immediate and often lasting relief is obtained.

Otherwise the best treatment for acute sinusitis is the same as the treatment for acute cold: hot bath, bed, plenty of hot (or cool as you prefer) drinks—soup, milk, fruit juice beverage; or fast 12 to 24 hours if you remain in bed; the fool proof cough medicine as described earlier; one grain of quinine for every fifty pounds of your body weight every four hours rather than any alleged "cold cure" of the coal-tar derivative class; a few drops of VDI (vitamin D inhalant) in each nostril with head held back then lowered below the level of chin first on right then on left side for a few moments, every four hours; a dose of five or ten grains of acetylsalicylic acid (aspirin), repeated if necessary in two hours, if any pain-killer is used at all, for aspirin is the least dangerous of the drugs popularly regarded as "harmless" for quickly numbing sense of pain, ache or other discomfort. Of course no such pain-killer is a remedy or cure for any disease.

Among the resources of the physician who treats nose and throat diseases, ultraviolet irradiation applied by special apparatus within the nasal cavity, as well as ultra-short wave diathermy or radio-thermy treatment is efficacious in many cases of chronic sinusitis. X-ray treatment is of questionable value, the X-ray negatives aid in the precise diagnosis of sinusitis. (Continued Tomorrow)

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Large Figures
Having taken for some time from six to a dozen capsules of a haliver oil preparation daily, I stopped to compute the equivalent cod liver oil, and according to the label twelve capsules would be equivalent to 48 teaspoonfuls of cod liver oil. . . 102,000 units of vitamin A, 1,740 units of vitamin D. (G. H. B.)

Answer—After all the figures do not mean much. As for vitamin A, that doesn't matter in any case. I have taken from 10,000 to 20,000 units of vitamin D daily for many months that is equivalent to the vitamin D content of from 35 to 70 teaspoonfuls of cod liver oil a day. Only I prefer economical vitamin D. You apparently prefer the expensive kind.

Incomplete
Discussion raging in our family as to the merits of a faith healer and we would like your opinion? (Mrs. H. O. J.)

Answer—Excuse me, please. Your own opinion is better than mine would be. My belief is that every one should have the treatment or the kind of healer he prefers, so long as the health or welfare of the community is not endangered.

Vitamin B. Deficiency
I was struck by the similarity of the symptoms of moderate vitamin B deficiency as described in your article and my condition—I have been examined by various doctors and no cause found, certainly no tuberculosis. My symptoms are great weakness, heart palpitation, short breath on slight exertion, indigestion, anemia, rheumatic pain in legs, and above all fatigue. (Mrs. T. C. S.)

Answer—Eat four ounces of wheat germ daily and if your suspicion is correct you should begin to get better in a week and steadily improve until you are perfectly well again. All of the complaints you mention may well be due to prolonged deficiency of vitamin B.

Russians Learning In Special Courses How to Spot Spies

Moscow—(AP)—Detection of spies is being taught to red army officers and political commissars, the latter the communist party's "eyes and ears" among the troops.

A new course in their training classes is entitled, "Methods of the struggle against spying, wrecking, diversion and terrorist activity of the intelligence services of capitalist countries and of their Trotskyist-Bukharinite agents."

Another indication of the interest in secret police activities was the announcement that a detachment of troops in Middle Asia would climb, as part of their training, a mountain in Tajikistan named "Mount Red Intelligence Service."

New London City Officials Honor Veteran Fireman

Retiring Assistant Chief Made Honorary Officer of Force

New London—H. G. Freiburger, the oldest member in the history of the New London Fire department in years of service and the first to formally retire, was honored by the department, the police and fire commission and Mayor E. W. Wendlandt at an informal supper at the fire house last evening. The department presented Freiburger with a gold badge as the first honorary assistant fire chief the department has had.

Freiburger has been a member of the department for more than 30 years and has been assistant chief nearly all that time, declining frequently to take the job of chief. He announced his retirement several weeks ago because of poor health, but promised last night he would keep in close contact with all the doings of the department.

The retiring fireman recalled the progress made in the New London department since the fire-drawn steam engine which it still possesses to the latest of fire-fighting trucks. On a recent trip to Florida, he said he inspected many departments and found none superior to his home town.

Mayor Presents Badge

The firemen planned and prepared the supper and refreshments, with the commission and mayor as guests. Mayor Wendlandt commended Freiburger on his many years of loyal service and presented the honorary badge on behalf of the department. The retiring assistant in turn presented his regular badge to Dan Rex, newly appointed assistant chief. Regrets at Mr. Freiburger's retirement were expressed by F. J. LaMarche, president of the commission, and P. J. Dornbach, secretary of the commission since it was established.

Fire Chief C. J. Dean presided at the presentation of speeches. He has worked longest with Mr. Freiburger as chief, having held the position the last 16 years.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pints of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning show there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nervous headache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give prompt relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

$75,000 Addition Will be Built at Brillion School

New Auditorium and Gymnasium to be Constructed as PWA Project

Brillion — At a school district meeting in the high school assembly room Monday evening the electors by a vote of 143 to 86 decided upon a $75,000 PWA project to provide a new auditorium and gymnasium wing for the Brillion high school. The new addition also will provide a modern heating plant for both units.

The school board was authorized to issue bonds covering the village's share of the cost amounting to $41,000. The federal grant will amount to $35,000.

The new unit will be built adjoining the present school, with which it will be connected. There will be a basketball floor and provisions for bleacher seats to accommodate 450 fans. The total seating capacity of the building for auditorium purposes will be 650.

A sound-proof practice room for the band will be provided. There will be several new classrooms, new wiring of the old building and other improvements.

Retirement of the village's share of the cost is to be made over a 15-year period.

No date has been set for completion of the auditorium-gymnasium wing. It is expected to get the building under roof by late fall and possibly have it available for use of the high school basketball team this winter.

Otto Zander, editor of the Brillion News, was reelected district clerk for the thirtieth consecutive year.

The auditing committee appointed for the next year were Dr. W. G. Schlot, chairman, Hugo Muehlbach, and Victor Wolf.

Eugene Becker submitted to an appendectomy at St. Vincent hospital at Green Bay Saturday.

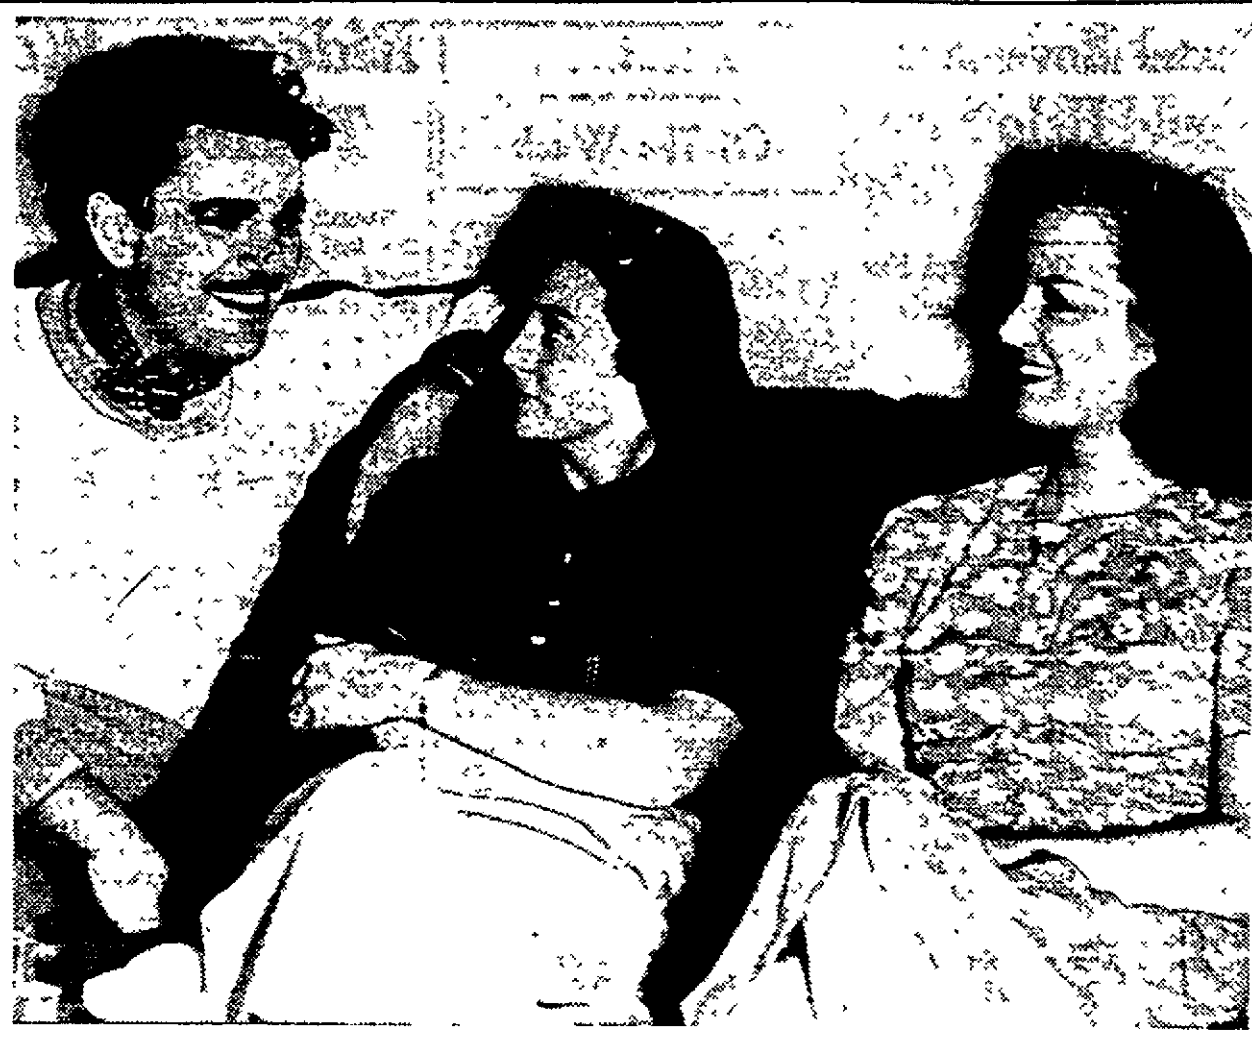

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Binsfeld and family left Monday for a week's vacation visit in northern Wisconsin and Canada.

30 Acres Will be Added to Park in Town of Dupont

Heavy Rains Keep Workmen Busy at Clearing Spillways at Dam

Waupaca — A recent purchase of 30 acres of land by the Waupaca county board in the town of Dupont will further the recreational park which is being planned where the construction of a dam over the Pigeon river will make possible the formation of a 35-acre lake. The dam is to be so constructed that the natural beauties of the region will not be destroyed, the water being diverted to the sides of the spillway.

For several days, because of heavy rains, Waupaca county has had a crew of men working to keep driftwood and floatage from closing the spillway. The highway for a distance of 100 or more feet is covered with 15 inches of water.

The project, which is sponsored by the WPA and which already has received appropriations of $19,114, has received an additional $14,000, according to an announcement by Gilbert Moody, area engineer.

Under direct supervision of Charles Nelson, the project employs 23 laborers, and will take another two years to complete—having already been under construction one year.

Sponsors of the project are the Waupaca county board and the Clintonville Fish and Game club.

The concrete dam is 62 feet long, 18½ feet in height and contains 259 cubic yards of concrete. There are also placed 3,200 yards of stone and dirt fill on the sides of the concrete. Up to the present time five acres have been cleared of brush and dead trees for the park.

Work has now been constructed on the construction of a road around the proposed lake. At present there are 59 men employed on this project.

The lake, which is visited by hundreds each Sunday, will be opened to the public Aug. 1 although it is possible that the drive may not be completed by that time.

Railroads Operating Here Report Gain in Freight Car Loadings

The three railroads operating in Appleton reported yesterday that car loadings have shown an increase since July 1.

Officials of the Chicago and North Western railway, Soo line, and Milwaukee road all reported that although the loadings have not increased heavily, the upturn is nevertheless significant because of the gradual slump since last fall.

"Except for minor fluctuations, our loadings fell off steadily since last October," one official said. "Then in the last week of June they steadied and since that time have gained appreciably."

Holy Angels Congregation at Darboy Completes Plans for Picnic Sunday

Darboy — At a meeting of the members of Holy Angels congregation at Darboy Tuesday evening, arrangements were completed for a picnic which will be held Sunday in conjunction with the demonstration of a new fire truck, recently purchased by the officials of the Town of Buchanan. A talk on the duty of citizens in case of a fire will be given by a member of the Hortonville fire from which the fire truck was purchased, Chief Henry Eiler of the Kaukauna Fire Department also will speak. The officers of the town of Buchanan who negotiated the purchase of the fire truck are the chairman, Frank Schmidt, and the supervisors, Jacob Henk and John Burghuis.

The picnic will offer the following features: The 45-piece 4-H club Band of Sherwood will play in the afternoon and evening. A side-show attraction will be "The world's smallest threshing machine and steam engine in operation," and a toy model well drilling machine will be shown in operation. These toy model machines are the property of Mike Karrels of Little Chute, who spent more than 1,500 hours in the construction of the threshing machine alone. A model of the proposed new school for Holy Angels congregation will be shown. The model of the school was built in sections by Mrs. Dan Wallace of Darboy, a member of Holy Angels congregation.

The women of the parish will serve a picnic supper from 4 to 7 o'clock.

The annual meeting of the Banner school, district No. 6 town of Harrison, was held at the school-house Monday evening. George Schwalbach was reelected clerk for a term of three years. Hostel Movement Could Help Save Peace, Club Told

Mrs. George Wettengel Explains Aims of American Campaign

Menasha—World peace through a youth hostel movement by which the young people of the different countries of the world will become better acquainted was suggested as one of the objectives of the American youth hostel movement by Mrs. George R. Wettengel, Appleton, in a talk to the members of the Menasha Rotary club at their Wednesday noon meeting at Hotel Menasha.

The hostel movement has had its widest spread in the countries where bicycles are most used for transportation but it has gotten under way in the United States also. Under the plan lodging places are established about 15 miles apart to furnish accommodations to the bicycle traveler.

The idea originated in Germany and now accommodations are furnished for six million young people a year in Germany. All sorts of buildings, from small houses to castles, are used by the movement and are placed in charge of a "house father" and "house mother." Each traveler must deposit his registration card which is taken away from him if he breaks any of the regulations.

Small Charge Made

A small charge is made for use of the hostel. Many of the travelers carry their own cooking utensils and food supplies while bedding is furnished. Mrs. Wettengel said that evening hours are spent in singing and dancing. Smoking and drinking are prohibited in the hostels of Germany but not in England.

Particularly in Europe the hostels bring the young people of many nations together. The hope of the backers is that the hostel movement will foster world peace through the establishment of friendships among the young people of the different nations.

Spreading in U. S.

The movement was brought to America by Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Smith and is spreading generally from east to west. Mrs. Wettengel said. She led a party of 38 young people from America on a trip through Europe three years ago. A membership fee of $1 in the American Youth Hostel movement is required before the hostels can be used. H. S. Morgan, Milwaukee, is the head of the movement in the state.

Wisconsin already has 14 youth hostels, chiefly in the southern part of the state. Menasha and Neenah are proposed as region headquarters in a single district to include the northeastern part of the state. Other headquarters are planned for Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Appleton and Green Bay, the speaker said.

Wooden Ware Scouts Join In Varied Program at Camp

Menasha—Scouts of Troop 9, were quite excited the first night about ghost animals running on their tent roof. While getting ready for bed the flashlight on the shelf lit up the roof. The boys could see animals running up and down the roof. No amount of chasing would give them a look at it though. Further investigation revealed that bugs on the lens of the flash were greatly enlarged and had cast the shadow on the roof.

"Rain again Tuesday afternoon! Several of the fellows went on a fishing trip before it started to rain. They included Scouts Garrihan, Des Jarlais, Bretthauer, Laemmrich, Enders, Bob Lang, Bill Spalding, Carlisle Runge, Bill Hafemeister, Bill Spengler, Geiger and Kolasinski.

Three Watermelons

"Tom Kolasinski's mother and aunt came for a visit but did not come for a visit on the fishing trip. They did not stay because of the rain. Ray Eskofski's family also came for a picnic lunch and looked the camp over. They also left three watermelons—and were they good!"

"Tuesday evening the campfire was held in the lodge with several boxing bouts. Egan challenged all comers. Wednesday afternoon a swimming meet and skiff hike were scheduled.

"The Honor patrol is having a lot of fun watching a nest of wood peckers under the eaves of their cabin. Three fluffy baby birds are under daily observation. Don Clough first spied the nest.

"Wednesday morning every camper had to have a card or letter addressed to his home at breakfast time."

stayed inside the ship after the motors were cut off.

Then Thurlow poked a bearded face out, grinned at the crowd, kissed a woman who had shoved her way to the cabin door, and ducked back inside.

All the elaborate arrangements to prevent damage to the plane threatened to go for naught.

Shortly before Hughes left the plane a crowd broke through two sections of a heavy wire fence around the administration building. Police rushed forward and stopped them just short of the plane.

Hughes wore the same battered brown felt hat and rumpled grey suit he had on when he left. He smiled shyly from behind his heavy beard and lighted a cigarette while police formed a flying wedge in front of him.

Wives Greet Mates

The wives of Thurlow and Connor pushed their way through the milling crowd to greet their husbands.

Once in front of the administration building, Hughes waved aside a battery of microphones explaining he would not speak until all members of his crew were at his side.

When they were brought up he made a short speech, acknowledging the greeting, one of the wildest since Lindbergh returned from his epochal flight to Paris.

When the five dog-tired men climbed stiffly out of the plane it had been little more than 91 hours since they sped eastward across the wild northern Atlantic, through scattered clouds, and winds high above the turbulent seas.

In 16 hours and 35 minutes they had reached Le Bourget field in Paris to be greeted by the same kind of tumultuous crowd that had gathered to see the arrival of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh 11 years earlier.

Delayed in Paris

A minor repair to their plane delayed them a few hours, and they were off again speeding over Belgium, over the forests and streams, villages and cities of Germany, Poland, Lithuania, on to Moscow.

Moscow and its Kremlin, and the numerous brightly colored houses and buildings that were once churches were quickly behind them, and they were off again over the rolling Russian countryside, the mountains and rivers, on over the Urals to the vast Siberian steppes, the dangerous miles to Omsk and to Yakutsk.

A short stop there and they were gone again, flying high through the warm air, through the perils of the Bering strait to Alaska.

At Fairbanks they discarded a great deal of the equipment they would no longer need—heavy clothing, a rubber boat. And at 8:36 p. m. (E. S. T.) they were in the air again, thundering down towards New York, over the treacherous canyons of the Canadian Rockies, over the historic Yukon stretches where men toiled years ago to make their way to places where they found gold or death—on across Canadian forests.

Radio Silent

For six and a half hours their radio was silent. They were untroubled. On the contrary they were jubilant. New York lay close at hand now.

Minneapolis was their first stop in their homeland. And after their brief pause there this morning they were off again, speeding eastward as true as any bird flies—over two Rivers, Wis., Ludington, Mich., over Sarnia, Ontario, down across Buffalo and southern New York, over Scranton, Pa., and finally over New York City to the field where they started.

The wealthy sportsman aviator, who would rather tinker with an airplane motor than live the life of ease which he easily could afford, had whipped around the world in less time than it takes a modern liner to cross the Atlantic ocean.

Like winged giants with thousand league boots, he and his crew had stalked around the world in seven prodigious steps.

Hazardous Flight

Through darkness, fog and dazzling sunshine they had sped, frequently out of sight of the ground for hours at a stretch. Over fathomless seas, across high mountains and up through the vast wilderness of northeastern Siberia they thundered, ever onward toward a brilliant new niche among aviation's immortals.

The Minneapolis airport was the first American soil the fliers had touched. Alaska excepted, since leaving here last Sunday at 8:20 p. m. Their elapsed flying time at the moment of landing was 66 hours and 49 minutes.

Hughes and his companions smiled and waved at the Minneapolis crowd that gathered quickly at the airfield. Hughes took off his hat and waved it at the throng.

He ordered refueling to start at once, and the job was completed in fast time.

Their landing at Minneapolis was made more than six and a half hours after they had last been heard from by radio, somewhere less than a thousand miles out of Fairbanks when they were flying over the desolate country near Fort Nelson, British Columbia.

In an interview over the Mutual Broadcasting system while the ship was taking fuel aboard, Ed Lund, co-pilot and flight engineer, said the ship had lost its antenna over the mountains and made radio communication impossible. That accounted for the long silence.

"And we were pretty tired, too," he said.

A barrel and a half of oil was drained from the right motor and replaced with fresh oil and 750 gallons of gasoline was pumped hurriedly into the tanks. A regularly scheduled transport plane's takeoff was delayed to give the Hughes plane the right of the runway.

When the Hughes plane touched ground at Minneapolis it taxied slowly up to the administration building. The engines were cut off and the fliers, one by one, clambered stiffly out.

Slightly groggy after 12 hours in the car they walked slowly across the field to a group of spectators who had gathered in the bright sunshine.

Meet No Difficulties

Thomas A. Thurlow, navigation officer, said that, in spite of their silence for six and a half hours, they had experienced no difficulties on the flight from Fairbanks.

The weather, he said, had been excellent, save for a brief period when they saw lightning.

Hughes' white shirt was soiled, his flannel trousers wrinkled and baggy. All looked unkempt. Since last Sunday when they departed on their last dash, Hughes said he had slept only about four hours.

All of the men reached eagerly for cigarettes. Richard N. Stoddard, radio engineer, explaining that no cigarettes were taken aboard because of the temptation to smoke.

Inside the plane the two spectators who got close enough saw a strip of canvas spread in the floor. The men had slept on it for brief snatches, one explained.

Hughes said he and Lund had alternated at the controls, taking turns of about six hours each. The robot control had done most of the flying, he added.

Up 14,000 Feet

Lund said the plane had flown at an altitude of 14,000 feet and was coming down from Alaska and was making such good time they did not wish to stop at Edmonton, Alberta, or at Winnipeg, deciding instead to come straight into Minneapolis.

Word of their safe arrival at Minneapolis was greeted with shouts of jubilation at the flight headquarters at the New York world's fair site.

And at Floyd Bennett field, their goal, the word was yelled by word of mouth around the field, where a light rain was falling.

The skies were overcast, but clearing weather was expected. Many of the more than 1,000 policemen, detailed for duty at the field, were already arriving and the first of the thousands of spectators expected to be at the field were on hand.

The wives of Stoddard, Thurlow and Harry P. Connor, another of the navigators, went to the field shortly after word came through of their husbands' arrival at Minneapolis. They suppressed their excitement with difficulty.

And just as interested in the arrival of the ship were two other women—Katherine Hepburn, actress, and Miss Elinore Hoglund, 21, who said she was engaged to Lund, Miss Hoglund made no effort to hide her emotion. She could hardly stand still with excitement. Miss Hepburn's whereabouts are not known but her name has been linked romantically with that of Hughes.

Captain Roland Kaufman, commanding a United States navy squadron of three airplanes, will take off about two hours before the Hughes plane is expected, and will fly out about 200 miles to escort the big ship in to the field.

Small Prism of Glass Helps Movie

Cameras Take 3rd Dimension Pictures

BY DAN DE LUCE

Hollywood—(U)—A fragile prism of glass, thin as paper and smaller than a half dollar, is enabling a movie camera today to see like the human eye.

The camera, a standard type, had been limited to two dimensions. Now the prism helps it to perceive a third dimension—depth and solidity—which had escaped it heretofore.

It is almost like looking through a stereoscope. The flat likenesses of actors become rounded figures. Backgrounds are distinctly separated from nearer objects. A new reality of space is recorded on film.

The "human-eye" camera is the result of six years' experiments by Joseph Valentine, Universal studio cinematographer. The idea occurred to him one night in New York when he left a theater and noticed that the images in a lobby mirror had more clarity than those he had just seen on the screen.

If a mirror had this effect, why not put one in his camera? Valentine did.

He designed a prism 1-100 of an inch thick and slightly less than an inch in length and width. It was made of two pieces of glass fitted together at a 45 degree angle. It was so fragile that more than a dozen models were broken before it was finally perfected. One surface was coated with mercury.

Valentine installed the prism in his camera between the lens and the aperture where individual frames of film are exposed. An image captured by the lens became two when it passed through the prism. Then a "beam-splitter" combined the two images again into one. Valentine said it costs only about $200 to equip a camera with the prism.

Grocers Must Pay Oleo Tax, Ammon Informs Orchard

Agricultural Department Director Says Delay Will Not be Granted

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau. Madison—Fox river valley grocers who at a mass meeting in Appleton last week proposed to representatives of the department of agriculture and markets that they be allowed to postpone the payment of delinquent taxes on oleomargarine which they have sold in their stores since 1935 today got a decisive "no" from Ralph M. Ammon acting director of the department.

At a meeting with R. M. Orchard, department attorney in charge of the collecting the delinquent oleo assessments, spokesmen for valley grocers asked for a delay so that they could present their case to members of the state board of agriculture. Orchard agreed to take the proposal up with Ammon, his superior.

Questioned Wednesday Ammon explained that the board of agriculture has already considered the question of the unpaid taxes, and has ordered his subordinate executives to proceed at once to collect taxes prescribed in the Cashman law. It is 15 cents a pound on all oleomargarine or other butter substitutes sold in Wisconsin.

The department began collections on the basis of a recent circuit victory in Appleton which defined a product merchandised by the Jelke company to be oleomargarine, and therefore subject to the tax.

Delinquent accounts of grocers in the valley area range from $2 to $200 for unpaid taxes, according to department officials. Those grocers who do not settle their tax accounts are subject to a $100 fine for each quarter of a year in which sales of taxable products are made.

Treat 90 Million Gallons of Sewage At Plant in June

A total of 90,642,000 gallons of sewage was treated during June at the Appleton Sewage Treatment plant, according to C. O. Bantz, plant superintendent. Maximum flow during the month was 22 million gallons and average flow was about 3 million gallons.

The percentage of solid removal during the month averaged 98 per cent, 11,500 gallons of scum accumulated at the plant and 614 cubic feet of grit was removed. A total of 331,750 gallons of raw sludge was pumped from the settling tanks to the digestion tanks.

Gas which accumulated at the plant totaled 1,134,100 cubic feet of which 321,000 cubic feet was used to heat the tanks.

Cost of power for the pumping station at Law street was $4.32 while $103.59 was spent for power at the plant. Labor costs totaled $640.

Fair Tonight and Friday, Is Report

Little Change in Temperature Expected; 75 Here This Afternoon

Fair tonight and tomorrow, with little change in temperature, is the forecast for Appleton and vicinity issued today by the Milwaukee weather bureau.

This morning the sky was almost unblemished, but near noon clouds began crowding over the city and by afternoon the sun was struggling for attention.

Weather will be slightly cooler in the extreme southeast part of the state tonight and warmer in the northwest sector tomorrow, the bureau reported.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon, the thermometer atop the Post-Crescent building registered 75 degrees. For the 24-hour period ended at 9 o'clock this morning, the highest mark in the city was 83 and the lowest 61, according to Wisconsin Michigan Power company charts. During the period, rainfall measured .03 of an inch rain.

Phoenix, Ariz., had a minimum of 104 degrees yesterday, highest in the land. Cheyenne, Devils Lake, N. D., and Yellowstone tied for low reading, 52.

Greyhound Proposes Extension of Lines

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau. Washington. The interstate commerce commission today made public a proposed order that a certificate of convenience and necessity be issued to the Northland Greyhound Lines, Inc., authorizing extension of its bus lines between Milwaukee and Green Bay and points in the upper Michigan peninsula. The order was prepared by a Wisconsin-Michigan joint board.

Greyhound seeks by this application to integrate the route thus proposed by purchase of Hiawatha Trails, Northwestern Bus company, and Gray transportation. The examiner who heard this application has not yet filed his proposed report.

The proposed Green Bay-Milwaukee route will operate over state highway 57.

Added Million Annually Is Requested for State Conservation Department

Madison—A resolution asking Governor LaFollette and the legislature to provide an additional annual appropriation of not less than $1,000,000 for the department of conservation was adopted late yesterday by the county conservation committees.

The 200 committee men closed a two-day meeting with a recommendation that the $1,000,000 be secured by direct taxation, by utilizing part of the present gasoline tax, or by the allocation of not less than $3 of the automobile license fee.

They declared this should be done without interfering with the building and maintenance of the state's fine highway system.

"There should," they contended, "be at the end of a fine highway something for the person seeking recreation and health when he arrives."

The department now is dependent on current receipts from license fees, an allotment of 2-10 mill of forestry tax receipts, and general budget appropriations of $75,000 a year for recreational publicity and $150,000 under the forest crop law.

Would Increase Fees

As other sources of increased revenue to finance the comprehensive hunting and fishing program they had planned, the committee men recommended that the deer hunting license fee be increased from $1 to $2 and that a fee of $1 be required of all residents, except those under 18 and over 65 years of age, for all types of fishing, whether the equipment be canoes, poles or rod and reel.

Proposals for a general fishing license fee have come before the legislature at several sessions, but no action was taken.

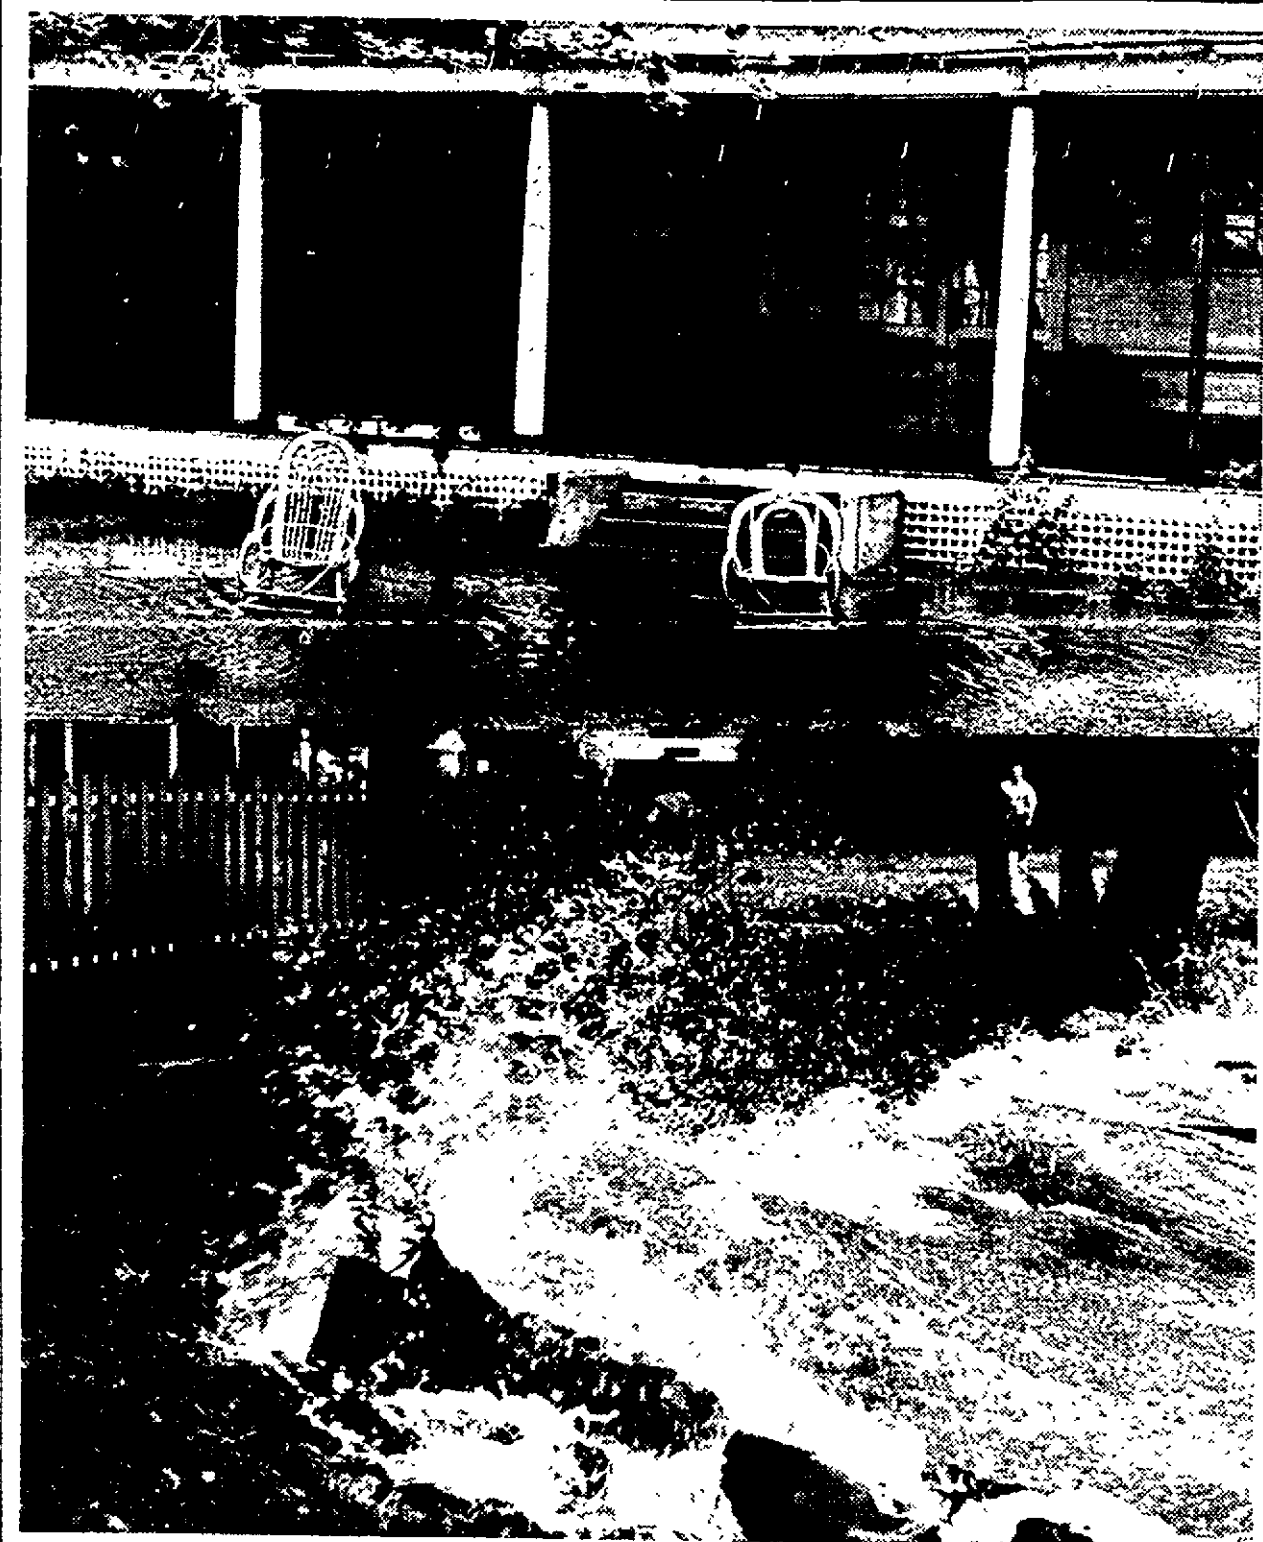

The committee men also favored continuance of conservation education in the public schools, a comprehensive public park system, restoration of natural water levels in marshes, roadside shelter belts, a ban on artificially lighted fishing lure, issuance of guide licenses only to residents of Wisconsin, a vigorous campaign against pollution of streams and lakes, and legislation which would give duck hunters access to shooting grounds adjoining private land.

Ice Fishing Question

An ice fishing discussion, precipitated by a proposal to close the entire state to the sport, was settled after heated argument when each county was permitted to register its preference for an open or closed season. Thirty-six counties wanted their lakes and streams closed and 35 voted for an open season, some with modifications.

A statement by Dr. Edward Schneberger, state biologist, that 85 per cent of the fish taken in the Wolf river this spring were males, indicating the females had been taken largely through the ice while they were full of spawn and hungry, had a marked effect in the delegates' attitude toward the problem.

Dr. J. A. Riegel, St. Croix Falls, temporary chairman, paved the way for the compromise agreement. He suggested that each county be permitted to decide what it wanted, since the conservation commission will pass final judgment anyway.

RAIN AND WIND FORCE LAKE BEYOND SHORELINE

The above pictures show what happened yesterday on the north shore of Lake Winnebago, a summer cottage center, as waves, propelled by rain and wind, raced beyond their normal boundaries.

Soldiers Come Out Second In Skirmish With Hornets

BY A TIRED SOLDIER

Camp Douglas—After about two hours of drill on combat problems Tuesday morning we again were caught in a heavy rain which left us pretty wet. Most of us were thankful that it did rain because it meant that we could do "bunk fatigue" for the rest of the morning instead of spending it on the field working.

All enlisted men and officers of the company took the Wasserman test Tuesday afternoon.

Private John Miller says that he has quite a collection of souvenirs to take home. The latest addition to his collection is an old, rusty gas shell. Corporal Harry Resch has won fame as the company barber by giving Private Gerhart Hanne-man a "porcupine" haircut. Resch says he has only one motto for his work and that is, "Get down to the surface". Privates Bob Krahmold and Ray DeCoster were plenty busy dodging ants and mosquitoes this morning when they set up their gun on a large ant hill and Privates Tom Zerbel and Chris DeLoew had an argument with a couple of hornets. The hornets won.

The "Nelson Club" has added Private Clarence Wundrow to its list of members and the athletic committee is putting on a wrestling exhibition for stunt night. Private "Kid Tacoma" Mattson will tangle with Private "Thor" Tracy and "Texas rules" will govern the fight. The club is also planning dressing robes for next encampment. They are to be baby blue with canary yellow letters.

Company D loses

Company D lost its bid for a chance at regimental baseball championship by losing to Company K. The score was 5 to 2. Sergeant Wally Klien, who is in charge of athletics for the company, places the blame on lack of "stick power".

Kitchen police Tuesday were Privates Norman Knipe and Dick Jones. Sergeant John Kerrigan was in charge of quarters. Gun squad leaders and gunners this year are Corporal "Nig" Gehrmann and Carlton Tracy as gunner, Corporal Ted Wulterkins with Bob Green as gunner, Corporal George Kerrigan with Norman Knipe as gunner, and Corporal John Melzer with Dick Jones as gunner.

Hikes, Swims and Boxing Matches Keep Scouts Busy

BY BILL SPENGLER

Gardner Dam—With a triple star program, consisting of a hike to the naturalist's, another to the Boulder Lake fire lookout, and a game night, first week campers at the Gardner Dam thoroughly enjoyed their first full day Monday.

Both hikes were well attended. Twenty-three boys saw the naturalist while 22 decided to view the neighboring territory via the ranger tower.

Frank Schultes, the naturalist, was found to be a most interesting person. He showed the hikes how to bud the branch of a good apple tree onto the limb of a poor one. The naturalist also explained to the boys the process of grafting and told the campers of the sad life of a Junebug. He showed them the cocoon in which a Junebug lives during its first five years, which it spends underground. When the insect breaks its cocoon and goes into the open to live, it has only a 2-month life. An open forum for questions was declared, and Mr. Schultes was swamped with queries from curious scouts.

Each Plunge

From here our party went through the woods to Boulder Lake where the water looked so inviting, after a long jaunt, that the boys plunged in.

The water was fine, the lake was shallow, and with the Buddy system nothing could go wrong. Back home just in time for supper, the boys had covered about 10 miles in four hours.

Scouts present at this hike were: Leonard Buchman, Dean Collar, Ira Collar, Lee Hershberger, Kelland Lathrop, Richard Mathews, Ernest Schroeder, Charles Olk and Carlton Trettin of Hortonville; Bob Bailett, Junior Cartier, George Davis, Bill Ferron, Robert Gill, Eugene Killoren, Jack Walsh, Bill Younger, and John Zwicker of Appleton; Danny Duffey of Seymour; and Francis Willis, Brillion. Leaders were Joe Shevelson and Bill Spalding. Mr. L. D. Hershberger, Hortonville, accompanied the boys.

Hiking to the ranger tower was also a most interesting venture. All of those who took this 8-mile hike came back with tales of the scenic Nicolet National forest which lies about the Boulder Lake fire lookout. Twenty-two scouts climbed to the summit of this 110-foot "nest on a hill" to marvel at the beauty of the surrounding wilderness. Fishermen on Little Boulder Lake and two other fire towers could be seen.

Gardner Dam campers who accompanied hike leader George Meier were: Kenneth Dahms, Jim Eckrich, Jack Gummerus, Bill Hafemeister, Cliff Hammond, Emmett Hoks, Mike Hyland, James Jansen, Tom Loescher, Bob Loehning, Dick Salen, Royce, Jr., and James Vander Hyden of Menasha; Lane Dickinson, Jim Hintz, John Kreutzman, Jim McKenzie, and Bill Schuh, Appleton; John Gavronski, Lee Samsan, and Bud Trace of Seymour; Cliff Hammond, Hortonville; and Tad Shepard, Neenah. Bob Aaris and Les Berndt of the Camp staff also took the trip.

In the morning, directly after supper, the volleyball tournament was begun. Troop 13 of Appleton succeeded in defeating Troop 8 of the same city by a score of 15-13 to put themselves in the upper bracket of the tournament. Horsehoes were also played until a game of "captain the sky" in which the whole camp participated was begun. With a singing of taps the scouts retired to their beds at 9 o'clock.

Flying Gloves

Sparring in the center of the ring, slugging when the going got tough, feinting, lunging, 12 first-week campers at the Gardner Dam helped to make a disagreeable, rainy day an enjoyable one when they offered themselves as pugilists in weekly boxing matches, Tuesday night.

In the first contest, for the championship of Menasha, Tom Kolanski, in a third round sprint, won a decision over George Envers. The fighters were announced as weighing "101" and "100" unmeasured pounds, respectively. Both boys are from Troop 9, Menasha.

The second bout on the card found Ralph Hauert of Troop 8, Appleton, opposing James Vander Hyden, Troop 9, Menasha. In a close decision the latter was victorious.

Seymour, Brillion Mix

The heavyweight title match or 130 pound class was represented by John Gavronski, Seymour, and Richard Geiger, Brillion. This was a very close fight all the way through but the lad from Seymour landed a few more blows and took the decision.

Another Troop 9 contest was fourth on the slate when Menashan Emmett "Hacker" Hoks and Ray "Octopus" Eskofski faced each other in the center of the ring. This bout was a series of footwork and quick jabs till the third and last round when both boys, eager for a victory, came out fighting hard. "Hacker" Hoks took that round to win the match.

Number five on the card was a study in variety of fighters. Robert Gill, "The Gargantuan Gigolo" from Troop 9 was a calm, reserve fighter with good boxing form while his opponent, "Handsome" Charles Olk from Hortonville, had a most unorthodox style of charging in with head down and slugging with both gloves. However, in spite of his unusual system, "Handsome" Charles was handed the victory for landing more blows.

Last Is Best

The last bout of the evening stole the show. In an attempted comeback, Ralph Hauert met Gerald Egan, camp cut-up and funnyman, who is a scout in Troop 9 of Menasha. Egan had all night been booing the timekeeper for having such short rounds so Harold Williams, timekeeper, made it a point to call all the rounds of this fight as short as possible. No sooner had the bell rung and the fighters approached each other than the end of round one was sounded. The second round was the same way and this so enraged these two contestants that they rushed out at the start of the last round and Egan had time to submit one jab before the match was called. As soon as he heard the final gong, Egan ran from the ring and, with martial glee, his gloved hands took revenge on the unfortunate timekeeper.

These bouts were fought with the best of sportsmanship and the contestants shook hands as a token of their friendliness. The boxers obeyed all rules set up by Referee Oddie Hoffman, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 9, Menasha. Announcer Joe Shevelson used his wit in devising the fighters' nicknames. Mr. Harold Williams, assistant camp director and timekeeper of the matches saw that each of the three rounds, except the last, stretched only a half minute.

American in Italy Deplores Sit-Down Strikes Back Home

Italian Working Conditions Made Him Realize U. S. Is "Grand Land"

Milton Detjen, Manitowish water teacher, didn't like the rapaciousness of Italy during his 15-month study there, but what disgusted him most was reading in American newspapers of the sit-down strikes in his homeland.

Detjen, who spoke before the Appleton Kiwanis club yesterday noon in the Conway hotel, said that Italians "may look happy but they all look upon America as the land of milk and honey and would give anything to jump in your suitcase and come back with you."

Reading of sit-down strikes in America disgusted him, Detjen said, because when he observed the working conditions in Italy, particularly the parsimonious pay, he realized "what a grand land this really is."

Italian laborers earn between $20 and $30 a month, Detjen said. And they are faced with high food prices. The average Italian workman in two hours earns only enough to buy a loaf of bread.

Mussolini has encouraged women to enter business and industry so that when war is declared and the men leave for the battlefield, the country will not be without executives. There are 800 women doctors in Italy, Detjen said.

"Whether you are boss, bellhop, or bookkeeper, you pay from eight to 10 per cent of your income in taxes," Detjen said. "And bachelors pay a special tax for the privilege of remaining single."

Bad air in theaters, training of youth "the way to 12 handle guns, the constant stream of officers and soldiers along the street of the average Italian city, and the guarded political conversations were described by Detjen.

Water Pumpage Last Month Higher Than In June Last Year

Pumpage at the Appleton Water Works plant during June totaled 22,245,000 gallons, about 6 million gallons more than during the same month last year, according to the monthly report of W. U. Gallaher, plant superintendent.

Maximum pumpage for one day during June was 3,381,000 gallons compared to a high of 2,614,000 gallons last year in June. Average pumpage was 2,408,000 gallons compared to 2,207,000 gallons last year, Gallaher said.

Filter alum used during the month totaled 2.8 grains per gallon, 1.8 parts per million of chlorine and 4.1 parts of carbon was used. B. Coli removal was 99.9 per cent and bacteria removal totaled the same percentage.

Pumpage of oil motors at the plant was 72,265,000 gallons; electric motor pumpage was 700,000 gallons; and gas motor pumpage was 280,000 gallons. A total of 5,665 gallons of fuel oil was used for pumpage. Wash water totaled about 2.24 per cent of the total pumpage.

How Woman Gets Husband Is Her Own Trade Secret

BY DOROTHY DIX
Dear Miss Dix—I have heard that a girl can marry any man she wants to if she goes about it in the right way. What if he says he is going to be a bachelor? How can you make him change his mind? Will you please give me the rules by which you can get your man?

Answer:
No less of an authority on women than Thackeray asserted long ago that any woman who didn't have a hump on her back could marry any man she chose. Recently I had this truth confirmed by a woman who told me of seeing a man enter a room whom she instantly decided to marry. She didn't know his name nor anything about him, but she said to herself, "There's my future husband," and started in pursuit of him. It took her three years to capture him, but she turned the trick at last.

So there's comfort for you. And encouragement. Furthermore, you need not be discouraged by the man's assertion that he is "agin" matrimony and intends being a bachelor. Most men have made that promise to themselves. Observing the bondage of husbands of their acquaintance who had to punch the home time clock on the dot, or else produce a satisfactory alibi; who had to push the perambulator instead of playing golf on Saturday afternoons; who had to stand for nagging and curtail lectures; who had to see their money go for grocery bills and rents, imported hats and beauty parlors instead of in poker games and for new reels and fancy golf clubs, and they have said: "Marriage? Not for me. Wild horses couldn't drag me to the altar." But you will notice that most of those who were so insistent on retaining their freedom somehow lost it, and are trotting along in double harness.

How a woman catches her husband is her own trade secret that she never tells to any one. The greatest babblers on earth never reveals her method, so there are no fixed rules that any one can give you about how to do it. You have to figure it out for yourself, and your system must inevitably be based upon a study of the man. For not all men are susceptible to the same line of charms and what may be a sure-fire method with Tom might be a fizzle with John.

Of course, to begin with, you must be as good looking as nature and good clothes permit, so as not to frighten your quarry away. Then you should have the proper background. A home, no matter how small, is essential. A man can always escape you in a hotel or restaurant, but when you've got him by your own fireside he is in your trap. "Will you walk into my parlor?" said the spider to the fly, and you remember the results. Public places start a man's feet to roaming. A home turns his thoughts to domesticity.

Much depends on a woman's approach to a man who is set and determined on remaining a bachelor. Go slow, because he is easily frightened off. Don't rush him or he is lost. If you ask him to call alone he will be filled with suspicion and decline, but you can lure him into little parties. You can play him with attention so insidiously that before he knows it he will have begun to depend on you for making things pleasant and interesting for him.

If he is fond of good food your task is comparatively easy. You have only to feed the brute. Get him into the habit of dropping in for some special dish that you have prepared yourself and you will soon

Discard of Ace Defeats 6 No Trump

BY ELY CULBERTSON
"Dear Mr. Culbertson: It isn't often that one is obliged to discard an ace when defending against six no trump redoubled, but here's the story."

"North-South vulnerable."

"The bidding:
South West North East
Pass 1 spade Pass 3 hearts
Pass 4 diamonds Pass 4 no trump
Pass Pass Pass

"I sat South and passed. I felt I might be called upon to defend later with hearts against a probable spade contract. I was 'flabbergasted' when East bid three hearts opposite his partner's opening spade bid. Again I passed and the opponents landed in the poor contract of six no trump. (Six spades is easy against any defense.) East's redouble was optimistic.

"A glance at the hands reveals that a club opening would defeat the contract two tricks, but I wasn't that clairvoyant and I selected, as my opening lead, the diamond queen. East won with the ace and rattled off six spade tricks. I discarded five hearts and one club, and declarer discarded two clubs and one diamond. Dummy then played the king of diamonds. I discarded another small club on the jack of diamonds. East discarded a club and, with fear in my heart, I tossed the club ace. I realized that a hasty exit was the only hope of defeating the contract for, being thrown in with the club ace, I'd have to lead into declarer's heart tenace. Too, if East held the club king I'd still make the heart queen. The defeat of declarer was positive, as North held the precious club king.

"As it happened, declarer bravely attempted to win the contract. Dummy led a heart. East won with the ace and played a club in the vain hope that I still held the club king. He realized that if I had held both the ace and king of clubs I would have led them to defeat the contract immediately, yet he left no stone unturned in an effort to win. This lead cost him an extra trick. As North, on lead with the club king, gathered in the club nine and the diamond ten and besides. Yours truly, M. U. Boston.

This hand and letter offer a good illustration of logical reasoning on the part of a defender. Entirely too many players sit with high cards clutched to their bosoms to the very last gasp, only to find that such cards are a great deal more of a liability than an asset.

I do not approve my correspondent's double of the six no trump reached by such impressive bidding, but this does not interfere with my admiration for the logic and nerve he displayed in throwing away the club ace. If the declarer had held the club king as part of his terrific bidding no defense could have availed.

My correspondent neglected to point out that after the diamond queen lead declarer could have taken every trick by winning with the diamond king and finessing against the ten to his A-9. This, of course, would have involved the risk of finding South with the tenspot, a quite conceivable circumstance. Still it is unlikely that South would have opened the diamond queen from either Q-10 or Q-10-x and, everything considered, I am inclined to think that this would have been the best play on declarer's part. Obviously it would have succeeded nobly, delivering six spades, five diamonds, and two hearts, for an extra trick on the redoubled slam.

My Neighbor Says—

To exterminate grubs that destroy lawns and kill the grass apply arsenate of lead to the lawn. If a sprayer is not available, mix the lead with twice its bulk of sifted loam and spread evenly over the area, using about 12 pounds of lead to cover 1000 square feet. Then take your garden hose and wash in the lead under as much pressure as possible.

This will kill the white grub, and also the Japanese beetle.

If serving iced tea it is a good idea to freeze iced tea into cubes which can be used later to chill the beverage. The same rule holds for iced coffee. The beverages then will not be weakened by iced water cubes.

Dangers of the Home

IV—CUTS AND RUSTY NAILS
There are many little home accidents which usually don't amount to much. Fingers are cut, arms or legs are scratched, knees are bumped, and so on.

I say they "usually" do not amount to much, but sometimes a little hurt turns into a big one. A cut or a scratch may lead to an infection of some kind, even to "blood poisoning." That, in turn, may cause loss of limb, or death.

A cut from a rusty nail or rusty piece of metal is more dangerous than many other kinds. Rusty things may hold soil in which lock-jaw germs live, and if those germs make headway, the disease called lockjaw is the result.

The best advice on this kind of accident is the same as for any other kind—try not to let it happen. Be careful of knives, in the kitchen or elsewhere. Do not let nail-studded boards lie on the cellar floor or in the yard. When you handle wood, take care about splinters—a splinter may carry germs when it cuts through the skin.

If you do get cut, take care of it quickly. If alcohol is the antiseptic used, be brave enough to stand the "sting." A little sting at such a time is better than the great pain which might come if a wound is not treated properly.

Children Should Learn To Work at Early Age

BY ANGELO PATRI
About the worst thing that can happen to a child is to be idle. There is a time in their growth when they need to work, need to use their minds and hands in some sort of activity that brings successful results. If that time passes it cannot be brought back. Never again will that child want to learn to work, never again will he have the drive to create, to conquer materials, to help himself by using himself. It is the duty of every father and mother, every school, every social group, to provide the young people with opportunities for work, actual and worthy.

Some people say, "Childhood is too precious to be used in work." That is nonsense, if I may say so. Childhood is precious because it is the one chance a child has to grow, to prove himself, to investigate life at first hand and find his place in it. He does this by using his mind, his hands, his hands, in work, actual, not make-believe work.

And there are fathers and mothers who are afraid to send their children to a job lest they make mistakes, get into difficulties, be made unhappy one way or another. This is a mistake, but it should be overcome. The children will certainly make mistakes, certainly meet difficulties, some of their own making, some thrust upon them. But they will have to meet these conditions later on anyway, and the time for them to meet and overcome them is in the beginning, when they are forming their minds and bodies for adult service. Let that time go by and there is the danger that they never have the power to adjust themselves.

And there are the people who say, "There is no necessity for the children, meaning young people in adolescence, to work. Let adults do the work." Adults will do the work. But the young people ought to be serving their apprenticeships under the eyes of the masters, adults. They should be learning in their learning time, lest that time pass and they are left stranded and helpless.

Work is not a curse; it is a privilege and a necessity for the health of body and soul. Men never live happily and well on a dole. They feel less than adequate, less than men. Give them work, a chance to put the strength of their muscles and backs into a job they love to do and they are doubly strong, doubly efficient, and fit.

We must see that young people in their teens, those whose minds and bodies Nature has prepared for work, have the chance they crave. We will be a stupid people indeed if we cannot find a way. There is a vast difference in child labor and useful occupation for adolescent boys and girls fitted by Nature to learn to work.

This should be on the conscience of legislators, employers, educators, and parents until some way is found to give our youth the outlets they require for spiritual and physical health. They must have useful, worthy work.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to all inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care of development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Little sister at the age of three loves to wear mother's high-heeled shoes and powder her nose. A few years later she wants her curls "done up" or cut short like big sisters. When she is entering her teen age she is so eager to be an adult that she gets unruly, and causes herself, and those around her, a lot of trouble.

Are you a little sister? Why do you suddenly want to be old? It's no crime to be young! Youth is glorious—being young is thrilling. If you will just take it in your stride at the pace you should.

You think mother and daddy are old meanies for keeping you away from some parties and asking you to get home early from others. You get simply furious when mother insists on low heels and clothes which you think of too sweet, simple and girlish. Big brother is a downright nuisance when he suggests quietly that you lay off heavy make-up and getting in dark corners, "or else."

"Oh," you wail, "will they ever let me grow up?"

Of course they will, sister, just as quickly as you convince them that you are not a reckless, heady little tadpole, so eager for adult life that you are missing today. They know the pitfalls, and because they love you, and so want to be proud of you, they seem over-cautious when they try to steer you clear of them. Why don't you help a bit?

Quit hating the fact that you are still young.

Unhappened, and keep your cheeks and mouth flushing with color by exercising. Walk in low-heeled shoes whenever you can to develop true and glorious posture, and eat your meals regularly with few setbacks on the side!

Don't be stubborn about your clothes. Simple sports frocks for day wear, full-skirted gowns (never or too revealing) for evening.

Instead of pouting, and trading against proper restrictions, spend those moments keeping yourself fresh as a daisy, and nicely groomed with hair brushed to shining glory and your nails manicured.

And above all, my dear, live proudly! Don't cheapen yourself through thoughtless acts (like putting your arms and legs even though you see other girls being foolish! A few years from now when Prince Charming comes along you will be awfully glad you didn't!)

I can understand that usefulness in nothing people of our new address, but I did not know that it was not proper to leave such cards.

A Confusing Problem Brought About by Marriage

Dear Mrs. Post: I have taken my married name for business purposes, instead of continuing as I was, because my maiden name was so unpronounceable and therefore difficult. But now I am somewhat confused about signing my name on letters I write frequently when my employer is away. If I sign Mary A. Newname, without adding my title in parenthesis, the return letter will probably come addressed to Mrs. Mary A. Newname, then again, if I sign M. A. Newname, it is likely to come addressed to Mr. M. A. Newname. On the other hand, if I just write (Mrs.) in front of my signature I run into the tabu of Mrs. Mary A. Newname. And finally, if I write Mrs. John A. Newname underneath my signature, do you think it curiously out of place to bring my husband's name into

It's the matron's turn for a cheery bit of flattery—in the shape of a "different" new puffed sleeve afternoon dress! Anne Adams' Pattern 4847 has the most genuinely flattering lines that anyone could hope for. It is youthful in spirit—definitely not "large size" in mood or manner, though designed with that knowing fraction of extra width in neckline, armhole and sleeve that amateur figures demand. Picture yourself wearing that elongated and belted bodice with its pretty gathers and neat revers! You'll prize the effect of height that only a very long, tapered center panel can give. Both light and dark crepes are ideal—but choose very pliable, shape-holding fabrics. Sewing Instructor included.

Pattern 4847 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 3½ yards 39 inch fabric.

Answer: There is no such rule that "at home" cards must be enclosed; in fact they are never used unless necessary. For example, if your new address is not to appear in either a Social Register or telephone book, or if you are moving to a far-away address so that many people will have no way of knowing where you live, then "at home" cards should be enclosed with the wedding forms.

To keep a coffee pot sweet and clean, put a tablespoon of bicarbonate of soda into it, fill it nearly full of water and let it boil for a little while. Then rinse very thoroughly with warm water several times. This should be done once a week.

KAUKAUNA — The Manitowoc shipbuilders could make only four hits off Al Bauer last night and his mates broke their recent batting slump by knocking out 13 hits. The Kaw right hander triumphed by a 5 to 3 count. The Brewers scored twice in the eighth inning to break a three to three tie. It was not until the fourth frame that the Kaws came through with the game's first counter. Kappell, Van Drasek and Bowers garnered singles in the first three innings but their mates were helpless. In the fourth Kappell flied out and Radder walked. Eggert singled to left. Van Drasek skied out and Zelinski singled to right. Peck then stepped up with the bases full and doubled off the center field wall. Radder and Eggert scoring. Zelinski tried to count also but was out at home.

Ships Gain Lead
The Kaw lead was short lived, for the Ship scored three in the fifth to go out in front, and needed only one hit to do it. Scherer was out when he grounded to Eggert. Wilda walked and Kohls flied out. Gospy was safe on Vils' error and then Pitcher Kloskey strode to the box. He picked on a fast ball and drove it over the left field fence on a home run. Witczak flied out to end the fun.

The Brewers tied matters up in their half of the same frame, making one run on three hits. After Bauer fanned Bowers singled to left and Vils to right sending Bowers to third. Kappell hit Kloskey who threw to home to attempt to get Bowers. Catcher Kohls chased Bowers almost back to third before tagging him out. Radder's single over third scored Vils from third, but Kappell was out at home.

A sacrifice and an error brought home the winning runs in the eighth. Eggert singled off the third baseman's glove and Van Drasek walked. Zelinski forced Van Drasek at second. Eggert taking third, but Kappell was out at home.

Peck then laid down a sacrifice to score Eggert. Peck being thrown out at first. Bauer hit to second. Ziegler, who threw wild to first, letting Ziegler score with the fifth Kaw run. The sixth was the only other inning in which the Kaws threatened to score. Eggert led off with a one baser to center and Van Drasek beat out a bunt for a hit. Zelinski flied out. Eggert taking third after the catch. Peck grounded to deep short, and Eggert was out when he tried to score. Bauer hoisted one to the outfield.

The Ships made a hit in each of the seventh, eighth and ninth innings. Scherer doubled to start the seventh, but Bauer struck out Wil. da. Kohls, and Gospy. Witczak singled with one gone in the eighth but the next two were easy. Wilda lofted a hit over third in the ninth with two gone, and then Zigmund, pinch hitting for Kohls, grounded out, short to first.

Kimberly — In a game that was packed with thrills, the Kimberly Papermakers of the Northern State league took Clintonville Trunkers into camp last night by a score of 3 to 2 in 12 innings. Billy Dumke of New Holstein replaced Tomlin while Felix replaced Miller in the twelfth inning. Dumke fanned

Pitcher Is Ketcher and Catcher Is Named Pitcher

NEW YORK — (U) — Hank Greenberg, Tiger slugger, sure would like to learn the identity of the feminine admirer who sends him a four leaf clover in a scented envelope two or three times a week. . . . This one is almost too good to be true, but Arch Ward reports via the Chicago Tribune that Cincinnati scouts are looking over a minor league pitcher named Ketcher and a catcher named Pitcher. . . . (Where was Mr. Gabe Paul, the demon Cincinnati press agent, while all this was going on?) . . . Confidentially, we'd have willingly traded our right arm to have had that item first.

Over in Brooklyn the other day Babe Ruth pointed to Bob Seeds of the Giants and exclaimed: "There's one guy who is really uglier than I am." . . .

Babe is parking half a dozen balls daily and autographing more than 100 score cards before each game, but his chances of becoming manager of the Dodgers are fading for the simple reason the club is losing about as regularly as it ever did—which is plenty if you count out the last two days.

Gene Sarazen will have no complaint on the thirteenth hole when he shows up for the St. Paul open late this month. . . . Sarazen used to call the sand greens at Pinehurst "tennis courts" and he's always had a pet peeve against the 13th on the Keller course at St. Paul because of its slopes. . . . Now they've been fixed. . . . If you listen to "Old Sarge" Gaby Street of the St. Louis Browns, the Yankees are just about "in." . . . Important tennis note: Frankie Parker has his forehead back again.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Joe DiMaggio, Yankees—Hit two homers, the second with two aboard in tenth inning, to beat Browns 15-12.

Tuck Stainback, Dodgers — His double with the bases loaded sparked Dodgers in winning rally for victory over Pirates.

Taft Wright, Senators—Hit pinch-double driving in two runs in winning ninth inning rally against Indians.

Paul Derringer, Reds — Held Giants to eight hits and drove in two runs himself in 6-1 victory.

George Caster, Athletics—Hand-cuffed White Sox with six hits, fanning eight, in 5-2 win.

Johnny Mize, Cardinals — Hit three homers accounting for all Cards' runs in 10-5 loss to Bees.

Emerson Dickman, Red Sox, and Don Ross, Tigers — Former's steady pitching won doubleheader opener 7-4, with Dickman getting two hits and scoring two runs himself; Ross drove in three runs in 9-5 Tiger nightcap victory.

REMEMBER WHEN THEY WERE TOPS IN THE VALLEY?

Shades of the past! Most of these 1937 Fox River Valley league champions, the K-C Athletics, will be on hand when baseball greats of former years tangle with the Kimberly Papermakers of the Northern State league in a feature game to be played at Kimberly Sunday afternoon, July 24. The tilt will be a benefit for Hunter Lake. Papermaker who broke his leg in a practice session before the season opened this spring, and plans indicate it'll be a great day in Kimberly baseball history.

Many other oldtimers will be there to take a bow or help set the young 'uns down.

Predict Record Crowd to Attend All-Star Game of American Association

INDIANAPOLIS —(U)—The Indianapolis Indians, who surprised even the home town fans with their 1938 exploits, will collect dividends tonight for holding first place in the American association on July 14th, by playing host to the loop's fifth annual All-Star baseball game in Perry stadium.

League officials predicted the attendance record of 12,369, set last year at Columbus, would be broken as many prominent figures in the national game gathered to witness the home team square away against the handpicked aggregation from the other seven teams.

Manager Bert Shotton of Columbus, who will direct the All-Stars, has indicated he would start the Milwaukee battery of Whitlow Wyatt, with a pitching record of 12 wins and 6 losses, with Joe Becker behind the plate.

Ray Schalk, Tribe chieftain, will depend upon his most successful battery combination, Vance Page, with a mark of 14 games won and 2 lost, will send his slants to William Baker, one of the league's leading hitters.

A singular fact in connection with last year's All-Star game at Columbus is that 18 of the players selected to participate there were given try-outs with major league clubs this spring.

The game itself should be well "policed" with umpires as the loop's entire staff of 10 arbiters will participate in some portion of the contest to pay honor to George Johnson, dean of the staff, who will be presented with a medal in recognition of his 25 years of service to the association.

Opening ceremonies at the plate will get underway promptly at 8:15 p. m. (C. S. T.) Members of both the Indianapolis and All-Star squads will receive trophies.

ALL-STARS

INDIANAPOLIS

Milwaukee Youth Cards Record 67 In Western Meet

Burleigh Jacobs, 18, Smashes Mark in Final Qualifying Round

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
SOUTH BEND, Ind. —(U)—A smiling Milwaukee youngster with rare golfing talents joined the front rank of contenders for the Western amateur golf championship today by some sensational shot-making in the final qualifying round.

He is Burleigh Jacobs, 18, and just out of high school. The youngster smashed the Chain O' Lakes course record yesterday to card 139 for medalist honors in the 36-hole qualifying event.

Jacobs turned in a 67, four under par, in the final qualifying round, scoring six birdies, ten pars, and putting like a world's champion. He went over on only two holes.

He was among the 68 low scorers who headed into match play today for the title now held by Wilford Wehrle of Racine, Wis. His opponent was Kenneth Young of South Bend. The defending champion, who was exempt from the qualifying test, was pitted against Billy Sixty, golfing reporter from the Milwaukee Journal, who qualified with 156.

Others in Field
The field included "Little Jack" Hoerner, six-foot, four inch Chippewa who was runner-up to Jacobs with a par 142. Walter Emery, Dallas, Texas, former intercollegiate champion, and Henry Castillo of Louisiana State university. The latter pair took third place honors in the qualifying event with 144.

Jacobs, wearing a faded dubonnet shirt, clipped a stroke off the course record of 68 hung up in the West when open two years ago by Willie Goggin of San Francisco. The Milwaukee youth came within a stroke of the Western amateur record which Dexter Cummings shot at Lockmoor in 1925.

Matches today included: Larry Moller, Quincy, Ill., (146) versus W. Thomsen, Racine, Wis., (155). Beauform Melik, Racine, Wis., (151) versus Bill Schaller, Milwaukee (154). Louis Zickus, Racine, Wis., (151) versus Mike Stefanchik, Chicago (154). W. F. Reed, Jr., Indianapolis (152) versus Sam Ruskin, Milwaukee (154). Lynn Lardner, Jr., Milwaukee (152) versus Jud Leighton, South Bend (153).

Reds Keep Giants From Top Spot by Winning Tilt, 6-1

Derringer's 8-Hit Pitching
Big Factor; New Yorkers in Second

CINCINNATI — (U) — Behind Paul Derringer's effective eight hit pitching, the Reds routed the New York Giants, 6 to 1, yesterday in the first game of the National league champions' western invasion. The game was cut to eight innings because of rain.

The defeat left the New Yorkers in second place, two percentage points back of Pittsburgh.

Derringer not only handled the pitching chores, but drove in two of the Reds' runs during their big five-run sixth inning. They pounded out six hits off Clyde Castman during this frame to put the game on ice. Ernie Lombardi's double accounted for one of the runs, and Ival Goodman's single for two more.

PIRATES LICKED
Pittsburgh —(U)—The Brooklyn Dodgers and the "13 jinx" caught up with the Pirates in the ninth inning yesterday (note the date), and the Bucs' 13-game winning streak, longest in the majors this season, came to an end.

The Dodgers exploded a seven run barrage in the final frame to whip the Pirates, 10 to 5, and snap the run. Despite the setback, however, the Bucs retained their slim percentage hold on first place in the National league, since the second-place Giants also were defeated.

Blanked for six innings by Young Russ Bauer, the Dodgers started to roll with a run in the seventh, tied the game at 3-3 in the eighth on Dolph Camilli's two-run homer, and then sewed up the decision at the expense of big Mace Brown.

Brown Loser
Brown, No. 1 relief pitcher in the majors this season, was charged with the loss, which snapped his personal winning streak at seven straight games. It was his third defeat against 12 victories for the season. Tot Pressnell, third Dodger pitcher to see action, was the winner.

The Dodgers didn't start to click until Tuck Stainback, who has been knocking around from the Cubs to the Cardinals, the Phillies, and, finally, Brooklyn, this season, entered the game in the seventh. He singled in the eighth and scored on Camilli's round-tripper, and then sparked the winning spurge in the ninth with a double with the bases loaded.

Through the first five frames, the game was a scoreless duel between Bauer and counterpart Vito Tamulis. In the sixth, however, the Pirates counted three times on four hits and appeared to have the game on ice.

CAN'T DO IT ALONE
St. Louis —(U)—It wasn't Johnny Mize's fault the Cardinals dropped their seventh game yesterday as the Boston Bees won a series opener, 10 to 5.

Big Johnny, whose failure at the plate has been one of the major disappointments in these parts, crashed out three successive homers to drive in all the Red Birds' runs as the tubercular day crowd of 7,846 cheered madly.

But the first sacker's bat was the only effective one and Frankie Frisch's men just couldn't overcome a seven-run lead the boys from Boston piled up in the first and third innings. Just to make it decisive, West homered for the Bees in the ninth and Fletcher scored on Mueller's single.

While Mac's Away---

BY DICK DAVIS
The Fond du Lac board of education at a meeting this week criticized the cost of officiating at Fox River Valley high school athletics contests. The amounts run from $10 to $15 per official and officiating has run as high as $50 for a single football game, a report showed. The school board took steps to submit a proposal at the next meeting of the conference that the pay of basketball and football officials be reduced.

We would like to be a mouse at the conference meeting if the proposal comes up for debate.

"They're off" will be the password at Oshkosh Sunday afternoon when a program of harness horse racing is staged on the Winnebago County Fair association track in connection with the summer festival to be given by the association and the Oshkosh acre of Eagles.

Outstanding horses from stables throughout the state and upper Michigan will be on hand for the races and the track record of 2:05 may be equalled or lowered. One horse has already paced a mile in 2:07 during training. Purses will aggregate $500 and 15 radio stars will entertain during the program which will get underway at 1:30 Sunday afternoon.

Support is being solicited for Ait Buck, fleet halfback of Carroll college, in the poll to name the College All-Star squad which will meet the Washington Redskins at Chicago Aug. 31. Buck is well known to Appleton sport fans and has gained their respect through brilliant performances on the Lawrence college gridiron, basketball court and track. He was a key man in the Pioneer attack and was the nation's second highest scorer during his junior year. Buck was accorded honorable mention by the Associated Press when it selected an All-American team at the end of the 1937 season.

Not a few followers of this sports sheet have complained upon occasion about baseball, bowling, football and other local athletic teams taking the name of Big Ten or major league squads.

It upsets many a Badger grad to read "WISCONSIN DOWNED BY INDIANA" about the time a basketball championship is at stake and then read further only to find that the story refers to a bowling match.

Harry Chandler of the Manitowoc Herald-Times pens the following which serves as an illustration of what can happen:

"Glowing press agency for the dedication of Kiel's new lighted athletic field had a humorous kickback. Milwaukee newspapers carried stories generously spiced with adjectives, listing as the super attraction games between the Senators and Yankees of the American league and the Pirates and Cardinals of the National league.

"It looked like the real McCoy to one Milwaukeean. He knew that all major league teams would be idle Tuesday because of the All-Star game and he and two friends decided they would drive up to Kiel to see the super-colossal double header featuring four major league clubs. Imagine their chagrin when they found out they had driven some distance to see a couple of softball games."

A proposed trade between the Philadelphia Eagles national professional football league team and the Green Bay Packers for Dick Weisberger, Willamette, Ore., college fullback, has fallen through because Coach Earl Lambeau of Green Bay refused to accept the Eagles' veteran center, Hank Reese, in exchange for the draft rights on Weisberger.

A straight player trade involving Andy Bershak of North Carolina, drafted by Detroit Lions, and Charles Sweeney, Notre Dame, under the Packer wins, is still hanging fire.

Louisville Nine Knocks Brewers Back Into Fifth

Yank Terry Checks Milwaukee With 2 Hits in Association Tilt

LOUISVILLE —(U)—The lowly Louisville Colonels shut out the Milwaukee Brewers, 4 to 0, behind the two-hit pitching of Yank Terry here last night.

The setback knocked the Brewers back into fifth place in American association standings.

Terry hurled hitless ball until the sixth when Ted Gullic spoiled his performance by beating out a bunt to third. Oscar Grimes singled to center in the eighth for the only other base knock.

The last place Colonels nipped George Blaeholder for the winning runs in the fourth, scoring twice on singles by Leo Ogorek and Harold Reese, two stolen bases, and a Milwaukee error.

REMAIN IN TIE
Indianapolis held to a tie for first place in the association race, although shut out, 3 to 0, by Kansas City. St. Paul, joint holder of the lead, lost a free hitting battle, 12 to 10, to Toledo. Minneapolis upset Columbus, 7 to 3.

At first members of the Japanese Olympic organizing committee asserted the government's stand need not prevent further efforts to hold the 1940 games here. The Tokyo games were to have been the twelfth in the modern series, revived in 1896.

But later Count Michimasa So-reshima, member of the International Olympic committee and leading spirit of Japan's participation, said "the cancellation was inevitable."

THEY CAN HANDLE BATS AS WELL AS ROLLING PINS

Girls will be girls and girls can be softball players as is proven by this bevy of "Diamond Lills" who represent Appleton in the Fox River Valley Girl's softball league. The Appleton squad will tangle with the circuit leading Green Bay squad at 8:15 Friday night at the Foster lighted diamond and intend to grab a share of first round honors. Green Bay has won three games and lost none while Appleton has won three and dropped one encounter. The tilt Friday night is the last in the first half schedule.

The girls, who are just as handy with a bat as a rolling pin and who would rather pull a double play than roast a peanut, are, from row, left to right, Ruth Noffke, Anita Hoppe, Rita Managan, Marcella Plamann and Elaine Buesing; center row, Lillian Oertel, Marie Salm, Pearl Leinwender, Rita Merkel and Bernice Leinwender; rear row, Wilmer Plamann, manager; Marjorie Patterson, Pearl Fredericks, Ethel Melcher, Hildegarde Laux and Carlton Ziegler, co-manager. From dainty Marquette who has the distinction of playing a command performance before Edward the Prince of Wales, to the Palais Royale Orchestra; from King and Roche, luminaries from the Club Montmartre, Paris, to the Hickville trio, the funny hill billy act; from America's Shockley Sisters to Argentine's representative, Yolanda "Queen of the Bubble Dancers" the 1938 Billroy's Comedians is an event of the season!

Use Plenty of Salt in Hot Weather
As a Precaution Against Heat Stroke

Madison — "Farmers and laboring men, exposed to sunlight on extremely hot days or to excessive indoor heat, can prevent heat exhaustion by increasing their salt consumption," according to the Wisconsin State Medical Society. "Heat prostration is caused by prolonged exposure to heat, combined with physical exertion. The majority of cases of heat prostration can be prevented by observing a few simple health rules. "Salt is necessary in the system, but the salt supply in the body is greatly diminished through excessive perspiration. To make up for this loss, salt may be added to the drinking water in the proportion of one level teaspoonful to a gallon of water. The amount of salt used on food may also be increased so that a sufficient amount may be maintained in the body during the summer months when one is exposed to heat most of the time. "Farmers are victims. "Farmers, who are exposed to the direct rays of the sun and excessive heat in the field, are often victims of heat prostration and heat exhaustion. During the summer months farmers and laborers should institute preventive procedures to prevent their becoming victims of either heat exhaustion absence of other manifestations of heat prostration. This condition is characterized by muscular twitching, abdominal cramps, nausea, vomiting and diarrhea, and is due to an increased loss of salt through perspiration. Drinking large amounts of water, beer or other liquids will aggravate this condition. Injections of salt solution by the physician will give prompt relief. "Use salt in your drinking water and sprinkle a little more than usual on your food to protect yourself against heat prostration."

Some of the perennials require much water if they are to continue blooming. Annuals also, particularly sweet peas, need water in abundance. One good plan to follow with sweet peas is to make a little trench along the rows and to fill it from time to time.

HOLLYWOOD LIGHTS CAMERA ACTION HAPPENINGS

BY ROBBIN COONS
New York—The search for a lady who might be called the toast of New York leads to the Ritz Towered retreat of Vera Zorina, sometime and again-to-be of Hollywood.
Miss Zorina (courtesy Sam Goldwyn, as the program note informs) is the classic-featured Norwegian whose performance and dancing grace are such potent attractions in the S. R. O. musical of Rodgers and Hart, "Married an Angel." In Hollywood she has been seen thus far only in the "Goldwyn Follies," in a role scarcely suggestive of the future she could create as a romantic comedienne.
Mr. Goldwyn's courtesy recently was extended to permit Zorina's remaining for the run of the play. It was rather a strain on the Goldwyn courtesy to permit her to do the play at all but Zorina had promised Producer Dwight Wiman long ago when she was in the London cast of "On Your Toes," and to Mr. Goldwyn a promise is a promise—especially when a show looks like a hit. After Sam first pronounced the famous two words ("im-possible") Zorina hopped into a plane, caught Sam in New York, and convinced him it was possible. Sam thought a girl in pictures ought to stay in pictures. If she wanted the stage, she ought to forget pictures.
"But I could not do that," Zorina says. "I want pictures, but I want the stage and dancing too. I could never give up any of them. I want to go on—there is so much I must learn. I must learn to sing, I must develop as an actress. Some day I must play a serious dramatic role. I must keep on with the ballet. I must—"

Thrice Starred
But right here I must point out a couple of things myself. The first is that Zorina, wearing a slim-waisted blue peasantish frock, her every gesture a poem in grace, is the kind of interview subject who needn't say a thing. You can just sit and look and study—and you get what I mean. The second is that

GRIN AND BEAR IT

By Lichty

"You'd be tired too—opening and closing your pores all day!"

Zorina, at 21, has attained stardom on stage, screen, ballet.
And not by accident. She was dancing when she was three. She was always dancing, always wanted to dance. Little Brigitta Hartwig of Kristiansund, Norway, grew up in Berlin, studying dancing and the arts. She became Vera Zorina when she joined the Ballet Russe, where in a Russian name is always demanded. (But Rodgers and Hart borrowed Brigitta for her character name in their musical.)
A New York Post
As if a nightly show and the usual matinees and a morning devoted to ballet study were not enough, Zorina has serious plans for painting and sculpture.
But as a "toast of New York" she is almost naively delighted.
"I have two nice letters from people who want to organize Zorina fan clubs. Isn't that sweet—but what must I do, how should I answer them? I try so hard to answer all who write—I write and write so much that I have no time to write my own family. I am so flattered when my autograph is asked, for I cannot understand this craze for autographs. From the president, and from famous statesmen and writers and musicians, yes—but we who dance and act, we come and

Wiese Is Re-elected Treasurer of School

Seymour — Edmund Wiese was re-elected treasurer of the district for a term of three years at the annual meeting of the electors of school district No. 1, in the city of Seymour held at the high school gymnasium on Monday evening. William Beck presided at the meeting. The annual report of receipts and disbursements was read by F. W. Axley, clerk of the board and that of the auditing committee by Charles Prosser. A tax of $15,000 was voted to pay the school expense for the ensuing year. The matter of renting the gymnasium for commercial purposes was discussed. The sentiment of those present was against the use of the gymnasium for commercial purposes and no action was taken. The school board closed its books for the year with a balance of nearly $6,000 in the treasury.

Love on the Range

The Story So Far

"Blur" Ankrom, trying to escape the trouble that dogs his footsteps, rides into Pese Pato. Immediately he finds himself embroiled in gun-play, rescuing a girl from a band of thugs.

Chapter Two

Loyalty Comes High

ANKROM swiftly went to her, took the gag from her mouth. Her lips moved but no words came, only vague croaking sounds. Deep anger stirred within him for the renegades who had tied that filthy rag so tightly, and a wave of darkness crossed his cheeks.

He passed behind the girl—she could not have been more than nineteen, he thought—and inspected the knots that held her fettered. He snuffed the match, let it fall from his fingers. Then he hurried down, working swiftly in the dark. Short seconds later the ropes fell away and she was free. Her voice came then huskily:

"That branding iron! Don't leave it—"

"I'll get it, ma'am," he said, and crossed to where a glow marked its site. He came back to her with it. "You been hurt?"

"I'm all right. Those . . . those men on the floor?"

"They won't bother you any more. Be a good idea if we got out of this. Two of them polecats got away. I reckon there's more where they came from. Can you walk, ma'am?"

"I think so. Will you strike another match, please?"

She aroused his admiration by her poise and serenity. He found himself wondering why she had screamed. That branding iron—

With a rasp a third match in his hand burned blue and yellow against the gloom. Framed in chestnut curls her oval face was before him, leaping from the shadows. Strength lay in her features and a latent storminess. She was standing now and her tailored suit could not conceal the lovely lines of her slender figure.

Her eyes lifted to his own, returned his scrutiny directly. "I'm glad you came. My name is Lee—Lee Trone."

"I was wonderin'. I'm Abe Streeter." He lied evenly.

"You're a range man. Stranger?"

"Just driftin' through."

"Would you take a job?"

"Ranch work?"

"On a ranch?"

"There's a difference?" He asked it softly.

"There may be—it depends."

"What on?"

She shrugged. Her eyes were on his. In them he read something that stirred his blood, that hastened the beat of his pulses against his will.

A Bargain

She said, "This business here . . . there's a connection somewhere. My father runs the Rafter T. Cattle. High-grade beef. It's sprouting wings. . ."

Ankrom started her toward the doorway. Here it was, he was thinking; circumstance and a streak of impulsiveness in his nature were once again shoving him toward a quarrel of which he knew nothing. He sighed and yet his being quickened.

He should ride away before the web of this new trouble enmeshed him. He stopped by the doorway and silently handed Lee Trone the branding iron she had told him not to leave behind. Unconsciously, he noted its brand.

"We had better be clearin' out," he said. "Those shots must have been heard."

Keeping to the shadows they moved toward the street, reached it. "This place has a reputation. Unsavory. Shots are common—dead men, too. I don't think you could drag the neighbors near here till the authorities have come and gone. They may be watching, though," Lee said.

"How did you get here?"

"I have a car. Have you decided to take that job I offered you? The

Klub Team Beats Kappells to Win First Half Title

Scores 5 to 3 Victory in City League Game Before Large Crowd

Kaukauna—Scoring all their runs before the Kappell Taverners got any, the Kaukauna Klub softball team won the first city league title last night on the library grounds by a score of 5 to 3. The largest crowd of the year attended.

Ed Bloch, twirled for the victors and allowed only five hits. Bill Alger, on the mound for Kappell's did almost as well, dealing out six, but one of them was a home run with a man on base. Alger received poor support from his mates, who made three errors behind him. Bloch walked only one and fanned two, while Alger gave four passes and whiffed one.

Klub Score First

The Klub counted one in the first inning and twice in the second. Koehne walked and scored on Peterson's hit in the first, and Kuchelmeister and Tatro, both reaching first on errors, came across the platter on Koehne's drive to center. The last two Klub runs came in the fourth, when Niesz singled and Mollet forced him at second. Bud Tatro then smacked a homer over the left fielder's head to score the two runs.

Kappell's scored once in the fourth, fifth and sixth. Bill Rohan singled in the fourth and came home while two of his mates were grounding out. Alger reached first in the fifth on a fielder's choice and counted on Mayer's double. ### Kaukauna Man Constructs Car Type Merry-Go-Round

Kaukauna—A riding device for carnivals and fairs, of the merry-go-round type but having cars instead of horses, was finished today by James Grignon, 912 Draper street, and will receive its final tests tomorrow before starting on a summer circuit. The ride has already been booked at 16 fairs, and more are in prospect.

The entire device was built here at the Kaukauna Machine shop and all of the materials were purchased locally. The Moloch Machine and Foundry company casted the metal parts of the rig and the cars were procured through a local hardware dealer.

Each small car is attached to the center, from where a motor sends them around the track. The track is but a few inches above the ground, and the eight cars make seven revolutions a minute around the boards. The set up was described by its builder as the latest type, having all the up to date features. It will be taken to Sturgeon Bay soon for its first showing.

The device is surmounted by a canvas top, immediately below which are panels with many lights. The entire ride, as in the case with all such carnival outfits which must travel often, comes apart in sections, and can be quickly set up and taken down. It took Mr. Grignon a month to build

A model of the proposed school building, constructed by Mrs. Daniel Wallace, will be on exhibit. One half inch to a foot is the replica's scale.

The Sherwood 4-H club will give concerts in the afternoon and evening. Composed of 45 musicians, it is one of the best such organizations in the state.

The new fire truck recently bought by the town of Buchanan will be demonstrated, with Chief Henry Esler of the Kaukauna department slated for a brief talk. A representative of the company from whom the truck was bought also will address the picnicers.

Supper will be served by the ladies of the parish in cafeteria form. Tickets for the supper will be sold at the picnic.

pay will be $150, payable regularly once a month."

Ankrom's lips pursed in a sound-whistle. "You tryin' to buy a manager?"

"I'm trying to buy loyalty."

"Does it come that high?"

"I haven't found any, yet."

There was no irony in her answer, only wistfulness.

Against his will her words had moved him. "You don't know a thing about me, Miss Trone."

"Abe, will you take this job?"

Her voice touched him. It brought a strong appeal to that streak of impulsiveness that had ever been his undoing. "Yes," he said. "I'll take it."

He found her hand in his. She said: "You have a horse?"

He nodded. "The buckskin."

"You won't need a lift, then. I'll see you at the ranch tomorrow. The Rafter T. twenty miles due west. You'll find it. We'll be expecting you by supper." With a smile she turned and left him, walking rapidly down the dark street.

He watched her until she stopped and entered a long, rakish touring car. He heard the door slam. Then he turned to the buckskin, his mind a maze of speculation, his vigilance temporarily relaxed.

"Just a moment, friend," a voice beside him said. "I'd like a word with you."

Difference of Opinion

A rough-looking man with a star on his vest stood at Ankrom's stirrup. There was a cruel twist to this man's mouth, and harsh purpose in his glance.

"You better come along with me."

"Yeah? Who are you? An' where do you think we're goin'?" Ankrom drawled.

The man with the star grinned meaningfully. "I'm marshal of this town, buddy. We're goin' to take a look inside that house," he added, pointing toward the house Ankrom had just left.

"Supposin' I don't want to?"

"I ain't supposin' You'll go, buddy, whether you want to or not. An' don't get tough—I've handled hard guys before. D'you hear them shots?"

Ankrom nodded.

"See who fired 'em?"

"I saw a fellow go dashin' out of there."

"Who was he?"

"If I could tell you that I'd make my livin' tellin' fortunes," Ankrom grunted.

"Yeah? Well, you may be makin' your livin' bustin' little ones from big ones, before I get done with you! You packin' a gun?"

"You don't see any, do you?"

"Listen, you—I've had enough of your gab." The marshal flared,
